RESOLVED – That the order of business be varied to allow Motions 3.3, 3.1 and 3.5 to be debated and voted upon in advance of votes being taken on the other Motions on the Agenda.

Council believes that an excellent education and training is vital in building the future of Britain's and Barnet's economy.

Therefore Council is proud to note the excellent results achieved in schools and colleges last year across the Borough.

Council believes these achievements are the result of hard work by students, staff, teachers, parents, and Governors supported by LBB which is committed to maintaining high standards and working to help make every school a good school for every child.

Council warmly congratulates all the students, staff, teachers, parents, Governors and officers responsible for these excellent results, and calls on Cabinet to ensure Barnet continues to support its institutions so that they enjoy excellence in education for years to come.

10. MOTION IN THE NAME OF COUNCILLOR JACK COHEN - PUPIL PREMIUM - EXTRA FUNDING FOR PUPILS ON FREE SCHOOL MEALS (Agenda Item 3.1)

Motion 3.1 in the name of Councillor Jack Cohen was moved. An amendment in the name of Councillor Anne Hutton was moved. Debate ensued. Upon being put to the vote, the amendment in the name of Councillor Anne Hutton was declared lost. Upon being put to the vote, the Motion was declared carried.

RESOLVED – This council notes the importance of education for protecting the opportunities of Barnet's young people in these tough times and therefore welcomes the fact that, despite the severity of measures being taken in many public services to bring the UK deficit down to a sustainable level, the coalition government has firstly increased the amount of money going to schools to take account of rising pupil numbers and has also added to this a pupil premium, attaching extra funding for pupils on Free School Meals, looked after children and the children of service-men and women.

This council notes the £3,763,000 benefit this pupil premium will bring to 8700 of Barnet's most deprived and vulnerable pupils, helping to ensure every pupil in Barnet has a fair start in life and also welcomes the commitment to increase the amount of money available for the premium fourfold by 2014/15, bringing the total premium to the £2.5bn called for by the Liberal Democrats in their manifesto.

This council notes that schools and parents should register all pupils eligible for Free School Meals by 20 January 2011, ensuring that Barnet receives the full benefit of this extra funding. Council therefore requests Cabinet to draw up plans to ensure that all eligible Children have been registered and if necessary seek an extension to the deadline.

Motion 3.5 in the name of Councillor Sachin Rajput was moved. An amendment in the name of Councillor Barry Rawlings was moved. Debate ensued. RESOLVED – Council believes that disabled residents should have choice and control over the support they need, freeing them from state control and improving outcomes for them.

Further, Council notes that giving local people the ability to determine how best to help themselves, chimes perfectly with LBB's own "One Barnet" approach to services.

Therefore Council is proud that Barnet is one of seven trailblazers in the UK, working with JobCentrePlus to put Right to Control into practice and test it out.

Council calls on Cabinet to work to ensure the success of Right to Control and other initiatives (including those of One Barnet) that are shaping services around those who use them.

24. COMMENTS RELATING TO THE WORK OF THE CABINET (Agenda Item 6.1)

Comment: Councillor Claire Farrier

Cabinet Resources Committee has deferred any increase in allotment rent to 2012 and deferred the decision on the amount increase until the next Cabinet meeting on 14 February. These small changes to proposals to review input from members of the Barnet Allotment and Horticultural Society who pointed that the proposal to increase rent this year was illegal. The Cabinet must now also consider the legality of the proposed three-fold increases in light of the Harwood V Reigate and Bunstead decision in 1981. The judgement in this case was that allotments are recreational facilities and charges should change in same way as other recreational facilities. Charges under all facilities under the heading of leisure for Barnet are increasing in line with inflation. In order to prevent the risk of legal challenge this must also apply to charges relating to allotments.

Response: Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I think the whole matter is academic because I suspect by this time next year all the allotments in the Borough will be managing their own affairs, setting their charges and implementing their own maintenance budgets. The allotment holders may then realise how actually how much it really costs the Council to run these allotments. Sadly, in the current mess the country is in we can not subsidise anyone's hobbies.

Comment: Councillor Geof Cooke

Mr Mayor, the gazebo in Sunny Hill Park, which is in your Ward, was built by the café owner without planning permission and without the Council's permission as freeholder of the land. I am making no question or comment regarding the retrospective planning application, my concern here is with the removal notice on behalf of the Council as freeholder. This is extremely unpopular with people in the area and in my view it is perfectible acceptable and in fact a boon to the area. What I would like to know is whether the removal notice was given purely by an officer and whether this Administration allows officers to take that sort of decision or whether it was personally stipulated by Councillor Coleman as the Cabinet Member?

Response: Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I understand the matter is coming to the Hendon Area Planning Sub-Committee on February 8th and I have no comments to make and I have had no involvement whatsoever in the issue and planning matters will take their usual course.

Comment: Councillor Brian Salinger

Thank you Mr Mayor. I suspect that there is more time left than I suspected. I put this down on the comment on the work of the Cabinet not to comment on things like parking income and changes on fees and charges. We spend a lot of time in the Council talking about where we are spending money but there are sources of income for this Council which need to be protected and we need to be sure that we are getting what we are entitled to. I'd like to know from the Cabinet Member, for instance, whether he studied the Bill Roots report into the HEFC loss that we had. Also, I would like to know whether anyone has taken the care to look at the grants that actually come the way of this Council. We talk about the grants that we get from Central Government but has anyone actually looked through the list of them. Let me just quote if I may, Mr Mayor, from the CLG website and a breakdown of local specific finance settlements for 2010/11. Specific grants within the AES, their breakdown – let me read you out some of them:

- Dedicated schools grant;
- Schools standards grant including personalisation;
- Ethnic minority achievement;
- Music grant;
- Parent to success;
- Extended schools sustainability;
- Extended schools subsidy;
- School development grant;
- School lunch grant;
- One to one tuition;
- Targeted support for primary and secondary strategy;
- London prohibition grant;
- Early years increasing flexibility for 3 and 4 years;
- Surestart early years and children;
- Youth opportunities fund;
- Short breaks gaining holidays for disabled children;
- Targeted mental health in schools grant;
- Think family grant.

There is a whole long list of these and they are broken down into individual amounts within them. I want to know whether anyone has actually checked whether we are getting our correct share of those grants.

Response: Councillor Daniel Thomas

Thank you Mr Mayor. I can reassure Councillor Salinger that on a monthly basis Senior Officers monitor the grants claims that this Council should be making so at least it is being looked at the highest level and my suspicion is that all these grants that Councillor Salinger has just read out would probably just be all rolled into one at some point or scrapped. And indeed if there is some extra funding, the new homes bonus for instance as well, which Councillor Salinger didn't mention but I know that Councillor Cornelius is doing his best to make sure that we benefit from that also in future years. So, yes we are looking to optimise our income and revenue to this Council to balance the budget.

The meeting finished at 10:17pm

Council Questions to Cabinet Members
25 January 2011
Questions and Responses

Question 1Councillor Brian Salinger

Can the Cabinet Member for Housing tell the Council how much the Borough is expecting to receive this year by way of its share of the surplus made by the London Housing Consortium?

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

Barnet Homes have not used the LHC for many years and the Council is not expecting to receive any cash this year. The surplus is only distributed to those councils who do give them business.

Supplementary Question 1Councillor Brian Salinger

Thank you Mr Mayor. Can I ask the Cabinet Member whether he is aware that Barnet is one of 12 full members of the LHC and that there are now 46 associate members? At a time when local government is looking to work together, this is a purchasing consortium and one that is exceedingly longstanding, has given benefit to this Borough in the past. Can he explain why it is that we don't use any of their services given that they offer a wide range of products and services available through 12 OJEU compliant pre-tendered framework and negotiated arrangements, which I can give a list of all them and they are not just limited to housing projects. We seem to have opted out of our participation in this organisation at a time when I think we ought to be taking advantage of it.

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

Mr Mayor, I must thank the Councillor for drawing this to my attention. This is indeed an organisation that rather has gone out of fashion with Barnet. Maybe we should look at it again – I accept we should look at it but it could well be that this is simply too remote from Barnet and not of great use to us. We haven't used it since the decent homes programme came in but I would look at it again.

Question 2Councillor Jack Cohen

In relation to Residents Parking Permits and visitors vouchers:

How many Residents parking permits (broken down by first second and third vehicles were issued in 2009/10 and during the current financial year to date (31 December 2010). How much income does this amount to for each of the two periods?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The information is not readily available in the format requested as the records for second and third permits are combined. Taking this into account the figures are as shown in the table below:

	2009/10	2010/11 (part)
First Permits	11,249	8,915
Second / Third Permits	2,455	1,971
Total permits	13,704	10,986
Total Income	£507,964	£469,674

Supplementary Question 2Councillor Jack Cohen

Yes Councillor Coleman, can you tell me why you are proposing to increase the cost of parking permits by well over 100%?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, the reasons are long and complicated as Councillor Cohen knows as he was at Cabinet Overview and Scrutiny last night they include the deficit on the parking account the need to maintain our roads and pavements in this Borough to an adequate standard.

Question 3Councillor Alison Moore

Would the Cabinet Member confirm what the annual cost of the lease for the artsdepot building is, and how much of it the Council is responsible for in the event that the artsdepot as an organisation closes?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

The Council holds the lease of the artsdepot space at a peppercorn rent and recharges it to the Arts Depot Trust for the same. Therefore the Council suffer the loss of only the additional peppercorn rent if the Arts Depot Trust were to cease trading or vacate the building. The Council would then either receive an additional rental income from any new occupant or make a saving itself by relocating services from another site.

With regard to service charges paid by the Trust, these vary over time and the Council would remain liable in the same way as at present. Equally, they would be recharged to any new occupant in the same way as they are now to the Trust.

The Council might also receive directly the income from the Trust's current sub-tenants, depending on how the sub-occupancies were arranged.

The Council is of course working closely with the Trust to ensure its financial viability is maintained.

Question 4Councillor Brian Gordon

Will you join me in congratulating Council staff for the successful road gritting arrangements that went according to plan during the icy weather in December? Will you comment on the success of the "grit bin warden scheme"?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Yes I am delighted that the supreme efforts of Council staff at all levels combined with meticulous planning and dynamic Political Leadership meant the Borough kept running during the recent winter weather. The Worshipful the Mayor, Councillor Longstaff (Chairman Chipping Barnet Area Environment Committee) and I visited the Mill Hill Depot on 19 January to thank the many Council staff for their hard work.

The "grit bin warden scheme" or "Community Keeper" scheme is a pilot scheme that Environment & operations are running this winter and follows on from one of the recommendations of the Task and Finish Group that looked into the winter service provided by the Council during the previous winter.

So far the far the pilot scheme includes two Community Keepers, both in the Golders Green area, and three schools. Two further Community Keepers are being sought from other parts of the Borough.

The primary responsibility of the Community Keeper is to distribute the salt equitably amongst his fellow residents thereby eliminating the misuse of the salt. The Council will support the Community Keepers in their tasks by providing salt, wheel barrows, snow shovels, and weather forecast information.

Supplementary Question 4Councillor Brian Gordon

Can the Councillor confirm that if there is going to be another very cold snap this winter, we are as well equipped now with being able to deal with that, as far as the roads are concerned, as we were in the previous cold snap in December?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I know that you visited the Depot at 6 o'clock one morning last week, and I know staff were very grateful to see you as indeed the Mayoress at the Depot at 6 o'clock in morning, and you would have seen the huge pile of grit that remains there at the Depot. I understand the strategic reserve under the control of the TfL and the Mayor has not been touched and I understand that Her Majesty's Government has yet another secret reserve stored away. So, I am quiet confident that there is sufficient grit in this Borough, available to this Borough, to keep the Borough moving no matter what the Lord Almighty throws at us.

Question 5Councillor Jack Cohen

In relation to Residents Parking Permits and visitors vouchers:

How many books of ten visit vouchers were issued for the same two periods? And how much income does this amount to for each of the two periods and what is the current charge for a book of ten visitor vouchers?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The vouchers are available singly, or in any number, although many people find it convenient to buy them in blocks of ten. As they are currently £1 each a book of ten would cost £10.

Vouchers Issued	191,073	157,384
Income	£191,073	£157,384

Supplementary Question 5Councillor Jack Cohen

Councillor Coleman you say in your answer that a book of permits currently costs £10 for a book of 10. Why then does the schedule of charges presented to the Cabinet Resources Committee show the current charges as £12 per book? Either the figure of £12 is wrong or the Council is being losing revenue this year by under charging which one is it?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

I never knowingly under charge Mr Mayor.

Question 6Councillor Geof Cooke

Supplementary Question 6

Councillor Geof Cooke

The feedback that I have had from parents is that play equipment which is challenging and of high play value at Friary Park has been replaced by inferior equipment which detains the children for not so long and is of low play value. What feedback have you had?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

None at all, Mr Mayor.

Question 7

Councillor Brian Gordon

Will the Cabinet Member confirm that cashless parking is available throughout the Borough?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Yes, the Pay-by-Phone system which allows motorists to pay for parking without using coins is available at every location operated by the Council across the Borough.

Supplementary Question 7

Councillor Brian Gordon

I want to ask you about the interim period before we move to being cashless with our parking policy. Is it possible to try a bit harder to see that the machines that are broken are repaired? More and more of them seem to be broken and a lot of people don't understand the position that they can no longer park by those machines that are broken. Also, can the notice on the machines be a bit clearer. It is a little yellow notice that can easily be missed that tells that you can't park anymore by a broken machine, that you as they have to make a phone call or find somewhere else. Many people are being caught out quite innocently by this very small notice.

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Sadly, Mr Mayor, the machines are being vandalised as fast as we repair them and in last few weeks we have even had reports of the labels stuck on the machines informing people how to use the cashless parking system being scrapped off. There are reports that you would have heard from last week on your visit to the Depot from the parking staff themselves. That is why I intend to move to an entirely cashless system, as the City of Westminster operates, very quickly indeed. There will be very prominent notices on the lampposts telling you how to use the system.

Question 8

Councillor Jack Cohen

At the December meeting of the Business Management Overview and Scrutiny Committee meeting Members were informed that "Parking Enforcement" is in "melt down". Do you accept responsibility or do you blame your predecessor?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

I blame circumstances.

Supplementary Question 8

Councillor Jack Cohen

Thank you Mr Mayor. Councillor Coleman is blaming circumstances for the meltdown in parking enforcement.

Given that he admitted last night, Councillor Coleman, that the special parking account could lose up to £2 million in the current financial year due to poor organisation, will the Cabinet Member now tell me what he means by circumstances – is it his complete failure to get to grips with his portfolio or whether does he means that he was never up to the job in the first place?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, Councillor Jack Cohen is not correct as the parking account is not going to lose £2 million, the surplus on the parking account will be £2 million less than was budgeted in the current year's Council budget. That deficit I am advised by the Section 151 Officer in no uncertain terms, has to be made up.

Question 9

Councillor Geof Cooke

What is the latest estimate for the Pension Fund loss arising from the bankrupt Connaught housing maintenance company bond being allowed to lapse?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

There is a risk that the cost to the pension fund will be £1.5m, but this figure is subject to negotiation with the administrator. The Council's actuary has confirmed that this would not impact on the employers contribution rate and therefore would not have an impact on local taxpayers. Staff benefits are also unaffected by this matter.

Supplementary Question 9

Councillor Geof Cooke

I understand that the issue under review here came too late for the triennial review and the consequences from that which took place recently. But, Councillor Thomas are you seriously contending that the £1.5 million black hole in the pension fund will have no impact in the long run on the money which council taxpayers will have to pay by way of employer contributions.

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, the people who know best in this matter, the actuaries, have confirmed otherwise and this issue is being investigated and I understand that a report will be tabled at March's Audit Committee.

Question 10

Councillor Brian Gordon

Will the Cabinet Member confirm that refuse arrangements worked successfully during the Christmas period?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Yes, I can confirm that the week before Christmas when the severe weather took hold we were able to continue the refuse collection service as per normal. During the Christmas period there were two double collections which took place on 3 and 4 January 2011, to replace refuse not collected on the 27 and 28 December (both Bank Holidays). I am very grateful to our hard working staff and I am happy to explain to neighbouring Labour controlled Boroughs how we completed the task so successfully in Barnet. I am also pleased that this Administration ignored the Labour Government siren calls to introduce fortnightly refuse collections.

Supplementary Question 10Councillor Brian Gordon

Thank you for explaining how well the double collection worked after the Christmas period. But, I would like to know if it is absolutely essential that we give all the staff the week off, the whole of the Christmas 'week'. I understand the Christmas days and the actual bank holiday days are sacrosanct as far as these things are concerned and I'm prepared to accept that. But, the other days of the week are not a bank holiday and I just wonder where we got into this situation where there seem to be no refuse collections at all during that particular week.

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

I think Councillor Gordon misunderstands – if only we could afford to give all the staff the week off. There were no collections on the Monday and Tuesday after Christmas which were both bank holidays in lieu of Christmas Day and Boxing Day which fell at the weekend. The rest of that week collections took place as normal.

Question 11Councillor Jack Cohen

When did e-recruitment commence? How many posts have been advertised? And how many filled using e-recruitment since the commencement?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

The e-recruitment project experienced various unexpected delays through the procurement process and therefore has not yet been implemented. The project is now in the implementation phase and the system development with our software supplier commenced in early January. The roll out of the newly branded "One Barnet" jobs and careers website and the recruitment administration system will take 10-12 weeks, with a launch date of Monday 28 March 2011.

Supplementary Question 11Councillor Jack Cohen

Councillor Hillan, thank you for explaining that the implementation of e-recruitment had been delayed and the launched date has now been scheduled for 28 March 2011. At the Cabinet meeting on 29 October 2010 a report on the estimated financial benefits of Phase 1 of the One Barnet Project showed a saving of £106,000 due to the implementation of e-recruitment in the financial year 2010-11. Would you agree with me that this figure must be wrong and throws into doubt all the projected savings of the One Barnet Project?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

I am sure that the figures would have been changed and obviously we will be ending this financial year with the figures as amended accordingly. It is nice to know Councillor Cohen you are such a fan of One Barnet though.

Question 12Councillor Barry Rawlings

Would the Cabinet Member advise how the Council can conduct a new relationship with citizens if democracy pages on the Council website still list former Councillors as current Councillors?

Answer by Councillor Melvin Cohen

Following the elections in May 2010, the website was updated to include information on the current Members and to delete that pertaining to retiring Members. However, whilst there was and is an up-to-date list of all Councillors on the website, it appears that some of the associated links did still have reference to former Councillors and these have now been removed from the system. Democratic Services have also recently conducted further work relating to information on the website to ensure that the information on links relating to Members is fully up-to-date. Where anomalies were evident, namely due to duplication of information and outdated information that had not been deleted (as new information was put on the website) these have been remedied as far as possible.

Question 13

Councillor Tom Davey

Please could the Cabinet Member outline how LBB is performing in handling residents' phone calls?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

This has been an area of service where the Council has struggled in the past. However, performance has been improving month on month for the last year and in the quarter to January 2011 we have exceeded our target for answering calls within 20 seconds. This is the first time that I can remember this target being exceeded and, moreover, we have achieved this during a period of very poor weather which, historically, has presented huge demands on our call centres. At the same time, residents' satisfaction with the quality of service they receive from the Council's customer services staff remains high. But I do not want us to rest on our laurels and we are increasing our target for the fourth quarter of the year.

Councillor Ansuya Sodha

What extra services will be provided to residents by the parking department to merit a 150% increase in the charge for residents' parking permit (from £40 to £100)?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The increased revenue will ensure that the parking fund surplus can be used to improve our roads and pavements to the benefit of all Borough residents.

Supplementary Question 14

Councillor Ansuya Sodha

In other words residents living in the CPZs will be paying to resurface roads in other areas of the Borough where there are no CPZs. Is that so, Councillor Coleman?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Including, Mr Mayor, in Councillor Sodha's own Ward for which no doubt she will be claiming the credit.

Question 15

Councillor Andrew Strongoulou

Could the Cabinet Member please outline what Barnet is currently doing to give local disabled people more control over their lives?

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

The Council has been implementing a programme of activity to give disabled people more control over their lives, namely the 'Delivering Choice and Independence' programme since 2007.

One objective of this programme is to create a 'consumer led Adult Social Services Directorate'. This has led to a comprehensive revision of our case management practices designed to ensure that recipients of social care maximise their control over their lives. Two key elements of this have been:

- The introduction of 'homecare enablement'. This is the provision of time-limited packages of intensive support designed to help people learn and re-learn the skills necessary for them to live independently at home. 50% of recipients of homecare enablement are not in receipt of social care 90 days after its completion.¹ By contrast, before homecare enablement was introduced, 75% of people were still receiving traditional homecare or a direct payment seven weeks after being referred to us.²
- The introduction of 'personal budgets'. When someone receives a personal budget, they know how much money they have to spend on their social care and can thus take control over the design and management of their package of support. By the end of 2010/11, the Council's target is that 30% of the people Adult Social Services supports to live in the community will have taken this control of their social care funding through a personal budget or a direct payment.

The other objective of the Delivering Choice and Independence programme is to create a 'consumer led local social care market'. Examples of recent and current initiatives to incentivise social care providers to be more responsive to the demands of disabled people include:

- The 'Innovation Fund': a 'pot' of £200,000 of small grants allocated to organisations which are developing new service models which give disabled people control over their lives.
- 'Social Care Connect': a online directory of social care services on which people can rate the quality of the support they receive and discuss aspects of their care with peers in discussion groups.
- 'Transforming Community Equipment Services': moving to a 'prescription' system for simple occupational therapy equipment. This allows people to cash in prescriptions for equipment at local shops (such as pharmacies) – choosing to 'top up' their prescription with their own money if they decide to choose a piece of equipment which is more expensive than that normally provided by the State.

In January 2010, the London Borough of Barnet, Barnet Centre for Independent Living and local offices of the Jobcentre Plus successfully bid to be one of seven 'trailblazer' sites for the 'Right to Control'. This is a new legal right to give disabled people coordinated control over money and support they receive from the following funding streams:

- Social care;
- Community equipment;
- Disabled Facilities Grant;
- Independent Living Fund;
- Some Supporting People services;
- Work Choice; and
- Access to Work.

Disabled people gained the Right to Control on 13 December 2010. This places the Council at the forefront, nationally, of providing disabled people with control over numerous areas of their lives, including the support they receive for social care, housing and employment.

Question 16

Councillor Barry Rawlings

² 2008 data.

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

It is assumed that this is referring to delayed discharges from hospital due to Social Services. Barnet Social Services has got an excellent record in relation to preventing delays at the two acute hospitals (Barnet & Chase Farm and Royal Free Hospital) over a number of years. Delays do occasionally happen but are often due to external and exceptional circumstances including but not limited to client and relative choice and complex placements. There has been no change over the winter months to our excellent performance of ensuring no delays.

Over the last couple of years additional pressures relating to the increase in seasonal demand due to winter have been increasing nationally and there has been huge demand and pressure on the system over the past few weeks during the Christmas and snow period.

Barnet has in place systems and procedures to deal with this; indeed Barnet was green rated by the North Central London sector for its Capacity Plan (the Barnet Capacity Plan brings together our local organisational plans for dealing with a period of increased demand for unplanned health and social care) and general preparedness for winter. Barnet has a system of regular conference calls between relevant health and social care staff, so that any blockages in the system can be dealt with by the relevant managers or escalated as necessary. Barnet also participates in the North Central London daily conference calls.

Question 17

Councillor Agnes Slocombe

Eric Pickles and the Government say that frontline services should not face cuts as a result of the local government settlement – would the Leader advise why Barnet is proposing cuts to frontline services?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

The Council is making the majority of savings by improving efficiency and re-designing services, rather than making cuts, which is the challenge that Mr Pickles is setting local government. However, in the context of a budget gap of more than £40m, it is very difficult not to touch frontline services when delivering a balanced budget but our proposals are aimed to minimise the impact on service delivery.

Question 18

Councillor Agnes Slocombe

Would the Leader advise how many frontline staff have been made redundant for each year since 2002, and how many she expects will finally be made redundant as a result of the forthcoming budget?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

31 March 2011	31 March 2011	2010-09	2009-08	2008-07	2007-06	2006-05
Per the Budget Proposals – Projected Employee redundancies	Estimated front line redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies
345	221 ^{3*}	34	19	19	7	17

Question 19

Councillor Agnes Slocombe

³ 196 of these are estimated to fall in Children's Service, but it is expected that this figure will reduce as budget proposals are finalised. We defined front line as being posts which are not back office, support or management according to HR data. Examples of front line posts counted in these figures are: grounds staff; street enforcement officers; customer services agents; highways maintenance; park keepers; revs and bens assistants; librarians.

Would the Leader advise if the Council has informed Eric Pickles yet about the number of redundancies Barnet expects to make as a result of the forthcoming budget?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

Advance notification of potential redundancies is required from employers proposing to make 20 more employees redundant within a period of 90 days. The Redundancy Payments Service (RPS), which is part of the Insolvency Service, acting on behalf of the Secretary of State for Business, Innovation and Skills, collects the information and distributes it to the appropriate Government Departments and Agencies. The HR1 form which initiates this was faxed to the Insolvency Service by the Head of Business Partnering & Change on 2 December and a transmission receipt received, a further e-mail confirmation was received from the Insolvency Service on 3 December 2010.

Councillor Andrew McNeil

Would the Cabinet Member advise how the Barnet Museum will be able to remain open without the Council's financial support?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

These are extremely difficult times for councils and in such times we have to consider challenging proposals. Barnet Museum is expected to cost the Council £23,110 this year. It is open for 10 hours a week and has 3,087 visitors a year with a direct cost to the Council of £7.49 per visit. Given these facts, I think it is hard to justify continuing the level of funding we give to Barnet Museum when our priority has to be to protect services for the most vulnerable people in the Borough. That said, I am keen to hear any alternatives that help mitigate the impact of these proposals on Barnet Museum, and await the results of the consultation to assess whether viable alternative options have been suggested.

Question 21

Councillor Andrew McNeil

Would the Cabinet Member advise what provision is being made by the Council to ensure that the 17th Century Church Farm House retains its listed status?

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

This listing is in the hands of the Secretary of State. Any change is not in the gift of the Council.

Question 22

Councillor Gill Sargeant

Would the Cabinet Member outline the details of all repairs undertaken on the district heating system in Grahame Park during December?

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

At the beginning of December 2010 because of a water leak of some 24,000 gallons on the District Heating System, all heating and hot water was lost to the domestic properties on the Graham Park Estate and St James School and Barnet College.

Barnet Homes Emergency planning was implemented and the Council arranged a meeting on 2 December at St James School. This was attended by all the affected organisations, and Council officers to discuss the work needed to restore services and the risks to residents and other people.

The cause was identified by a team of Engineers from Barnet Homes as a leak on the non-domestic pipe work. This testing required isolating each part of the system in turn and also some excavation work. The defective pipes were isolated and the heating was restored very quickly to the domestic properties. Whilst repairs were undertaken, operations staff from Barnet Homes arranged for all residents to have temporary heating. Homes were visited to ensure that vulnerable customers were given appropriate support.

Barnet Homes Engineers continued in extreme weather conditions to test the piping runs in relation to the college and the school to identify the precise location of the leak and fix it. Staff worked actively with the school and college to install temporary heating and enable as many pre-planned activities and lessons to continue.

Along with the emergency work, Barnet Homes procured the services of a specialist consultant to plan for the provision of a temporary boiler house for the School and College. Fortunately, this was not needed as the leak was successfully identified as being under the Grahame Park Youth Wing and was isolated and repaired to enable full restoration of heating to the School and College before the end of term.

Barnet Homes are continuing to work with the consultant team in order to develop a specific, priced contingency plan should this type of event recur in the future.

The leak was repaired fully to the Youth Wing on 17 December.

Councillor Gill Sargeant

Thank you for your answer Councillor Cornelius, but I really wanted an understanding of some of the issues regarding the individual blocks of homes that loss heating. And, also because just it mentions that there were a range of homes – over the Christmas period most of Grahame Park Estate had problems with their heating throughout and I know that Barnet Homes worked incredibly hard to do this and I wanted that everybody be made aware just how many people had suffered and how many blocks were effected. And, I hope this question will lead to consideration to increased funding given that the delay in the regeneration of the Estate could well cause serious problems to heating for years to come.

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

Mr Mayor, I regret the spelling error and that was obviously very careless of me and I am very sorry for that. The question on the heating, as Councillor Sargeant knows, to lose 35,000 gallons of hot water from a heating system is a serious problem. Not to know where the leak is and to have excavators in action to find it is a necessity in a complicated process. The heating system is very old and why we are regenerating the Estate.

Question 23

Councillor Alex Brodwin

Will the proposed changes to the Space Day Centre in Edgware mean that it is not guaranteed to be open five days per week? In addition, have service users been consulted about the possibility of the Space not being open for five days per week?

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

It is important to distinguish between The Space as a service and The Space as a building. When we asked service users what they liked about coming to The Space, they replied that they enjoyed seeing friends, staff, taking part in activities and going out for the day. All of these things will be important features of the new service. Service users rarely mentioned the building itself. In fact, the building is often quite empty during the day even now, with lots of service users going out to activities.

The new service, incorporating both The Space and Community Support Team, is certainly intended to operate five days a week and possibly even more, with some people choosing support at weekends. The schedules, times, and locations of activities for individual service users will be informed by their plans. We expect that some individuals will prefer a more flexible timetable than a five days per week, 9am – 5pm programme.

Whilst we do expect to use The Space building less over time, we recognise that there will still be some demand for the current building – particularly in the early stages of identifying the most suitable buildings for specific activities.

At the consultation with service users we did not specifically mention, as this would have been misleading, the possibility of The Space not being open for five days a week – the new service will operate five days a week.

However, we did consult about:

- How service users would feel spending time in community buildings other than the current day centre.
Some people said they would be sad if the day centre did not operate as a permanent base. People raised concerns about safety and keeping warm during the winter weather if they were out and about.
- How service users would feel having a more flexible day timetable, where for example their day starts later and finishes after an activity in the evening.
People said they would like to take part in evening activities, but some people said they did not want to be at home during the day.
- How service users would feel having a more flexible weekly timetable, where for example they do not access the service for one day during the week and are supported to get to an activity they want to participate in at the weekend.
People said different things about whether they wanted to do things every day or just on some days during the week.

We will be incorporating the views of service users (and of parents and carers) into the planning process.

Supplementary Question 23

Councillor Alex Brodtkin

In Councillor Rajput's lengthy response he says that "we do expect to use The Space building less over time". In the interests of much needed clarity over this very sensitive issue could he categorically state how many days a week this day centre will be open and for those days that it is not open could he explain which alternative venues will perform the services that it currently provides?

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

Mr Mayor, I think my response quite simply needs to be that the paper that you have before you provides the response that you need. We have consulted with people, we have distinguished between the services provided and the building; and of course there is scope for more uses than 5 days a week in the manner that my response provides.

Question 24Councillor Alex Brodtkin

Given the Council's decision to withdraw funding to Church Farm House Museum and Barnet Museum, what measures will the Council take to ensure that the artefacts and materials presently housed in these museums remain available to Barnet residents?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

The Council is looking at options to maintain the availability of artefacts and materials within the Borough. I would be interested to hear any proposals that help us achieve this.

Supplementary Question 24Councillor Alex Brodtkin

I am very grateful to Councillor Rams invited me to make suggestions on the availability of material and artefacts, but I would have hoped that he had considered this before pulling the plug on the entire funding. But, if he wants suggestions, what can he do to enlighten me by telling me about the viability of storing artefacts and materials in libraries and Friary House that I believe being mooted. Hardly, ideal proposals but I would be interested to hear his thoughts.

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, firstly I hope that the museums will stay where they are. I believe they will come forward with business plans to enable them to take a proper lease to the properties and therefore I hope that they will be staying in their exact properties. If that is not the case, we have already made a number of suggestions including libraries as he said, Priory House and other places for the collections to be held. Sadly, Barnet Museum, especially, doesn't seem to want to move out of High Barnet although it is a museum of Barnet and is not reciprocal to our suggestions and offers for providing new places for it. But, libraries are one option that we are looking at as you said as well as Priory House. There are a number of options on the table but I do hope that they would be staying exactly where they are.

Question 25Councillor Alex Brodtkin

What is the current charge for a Barnet resident if they want to replace a wheeled bin which is stolen or has disappeared by means other than through the fault of the refuse crews?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Supplementary Question 26Councillor Alex Brodtkin

Full marks to Councillor Coleman for brevity but I imagine that the resident who is charged £57 for replacement of a bin that they might be a victim of crime to have loss by might ask the question – why they are paying £57 in this Borough and most other Boroughs in London don't pay anyway near as much as this? Why there is no second hand bin available at a cheaper price? Why there is no discount when you report it within 24 hours? Perhaps, residents would also like to know why there is no distinction between being a victim of crime and having a bin lost and losing it willy nilly?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, a resident may well ask that but I'm not so sure that a resident would want a second hand bin but there we go. I think that Councillor Brodtkin makes a very sensible point there perhaps he might suggest that this is a matter for scrutiny and we can have a scrutiny into bin replacement programme. But, all I know it is very difficult, Mr Mayor, to tell the difference between a resident who has suffered a theft of a wheelie bin and a resident who has been perhaps a little bit careless with their wheelie bin.

Question 26Councillor Alan Schneiderman

What capitalisation requests have been made to the Department for Communities and Local Government over the last year and for the forthcoming budget and what is the outcome of those requests?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

The Council made a request to capitalise costs associated with redundancy and also to capitalise losses arising from the potential impairment of Icelandic bank deposits. The Council received a £2.3m approval for capitalisation of costs of redundancy, but was refused a directive to capitalise losses from the potential impairment of bank deposits.

Supplementary Question 26

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. Does the Government's latest refusal to capitalise Barnet's Icelandic bank losses not mean that residents are paying for this Administration's decision to chase high interest rates and by setting aside an earmarked risk reserve in the budget, millions of pounds worth of planned cuts in frontline services are actually being made to pay for those Icelandic bank losses.

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, no it doesn't.

Question 27

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Why did the Cabinet endorse cutting the Council's internal audit service when officers believed that the proposed cut would reduce the service by an unacceptable level?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

The Council faces tough choices on spending cuts, and no area of the Council should be exempt from reviewing their costs and coming up with more efficient ways of delivering services. Officers have been working up alternative proposals that would not reduce the level of service to the level initially indicated.

Supplementary Question 27

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. When I raised the internal audit cuts back in October I was told that it would not affect the internal audit service which is now acknowledged not to be the case. So it is good to see that this ill-thought cut out is now been reconsidered, but why has he and the rest of the Cabinet approved it as an option given the warning that officers had given.

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, the Cabinet were right to be ambitious with savings across all the services in the Borough and it now transpires that the One Barnet approach of sharing back office services may actually save costs. We are now talking with Enfield, and sharing the service with them should be able to realise all the savings in the proposals. So, I'm glad that we have been ambitious and quite clearly the Labour Group would not have been as ambitious.

Question 28

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Is the closure of Barnet museum, which is staffed by volunteers, an example of the Big Society in action?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Barnet Museum operates with a significant Council subsidy to maintain the building and support running costs. The proposal to withdraw funding from Barnet Museum also invited comments and contributions to suggest alternative ideas to manage both Museum buildings, the collections and artefacts. I am keen to hear any cost-effective proposals that support volunteers in making the history of the Borough widely available to the public.

Supplementary Question 28

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. As we know Barnet Museum is run by volunteers who are giving up their time without pay to run that museum. So, how come the much trumpeted Big Society actually work if the Council refuses to pay the running costs or is he going to ask the volunteers to pay the electricity bill as well?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, Barnet Museum have put forward a business case which in fact they will be paying the electricity bill.

Question 29Councillor Geoff Johnson

Can the Cabinet Member confirm that all school crossing patrols will be maintained, and none will be cut?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

No.

Supplementary Question 29Councillor Geoff Johnson

Mr Mayor, thank you very much. I would like to submit a petition after my supplementary. In the answer to my question I take that to mean that your going to cut school crossing patrols. Please can you confirm which schools are going to have their school crossing patrol cut?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, Councillor Johnson is entirely correct. There are 10 schools though historic accident, that nobody can remember, are still funded centrally by the Council. Of those 10, 4 members of staff wish to retire and it is open to the schools to make their own crossing patrol arrangements just as it is open to them to make their own staffing arrangements in all other areas. This is an anomaly which has slipped through for many years – quite why we are funding 10 crossing patrols when the other 110 schools in the Borough are not having centrally funded crossing patrols nobody can remember.

Question 30Councillor Alan Schneiderman

What are the potential future uses for Church Farm House museum?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

The building has many potential uses and I would expect it to attract interest from local organisations as well as commercial organisations.

Supplementary Question 30Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. Given that Church Farm House museum is a Grade Two Star Listed Building surely alternative uses are in fact actually limited. And, should we not actually be saving our heritage, listen to the thousands of residents who have signed a petition and want it to remain a museum as it has been for more than 50 years through economic times both good and bad. Do you now commit keeping the museum open on that site?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, if the thousands of residents that signed the petition actually went to the museum maybe it would be more supportive.

Question 31Councillor Alison Moore

Why wasn't the LINK contract let to Community Barnet in the first place, and could the Cabinet Member give details of how the Government grant to fund the establishment of the LINK was spent?

Answer by Councillor Helena Hart

BVSC (now known as Community Barnet) was one of the three organisations submitting tenders for the original contract – the others being Community Investors Development Agency (CIDA) and Parkwood Healthcare Ltd. The Tenders were reported to Cabinet Resources Committee on 22 July 2008 with 70% of the evaluation based on quality and 30% on price.

The CIDA bid was significantly ahead of the others' both in terms of price and quality. The latter evaluation included clarification and amplification through interviews and gave CIDA 251 points (out of a maximum of 280 points): Therefore, in accordance with established Council policy, as CIDA had scored highest both on quality and price, they were awarded the Contract.

A sum of £542,000 was added to Barnet's Area Based Grant over the period 2008/9 to 2010/11, which was equivalent to the Department of Health's expenditure on the PPI fora which preceded LINKS. However the point of Area Based Grant is that it is not ring fenced, giving the Council greater flexibility over how it used to support the Council's overall priorities.

The contract with CIDA was to the value of £413,000 over three years. The only expenditure outside this was staff costs of contract monitoring (which are not separately recorded) and legal matters relating to the contractual dispute with CIDA.

There was an additional one off grant of £10,000 in 2007/2008 from the Department of Health to help Local Authorities prepare for LINKS. This supported staff time in undertaking the additional responsibilities of getting LINKS started, particularly prior to the appointment of a host – and the costs of staging an awareness raising Conference in July 2008.

Supplementary Question 31

Councillor Alison Moore

Thank you Mr Mayor. Councillor Hart, given the turmoil over the next few years that will be created across the health sector by Andrew Lansbury's NHS proposal and the public concerns that is already causing, can I have your assurance that you are doing everything that you can to support the work of the LINK?

Answer by Councillor Helena Hart

Thank you Mr Mayor. First of all, as Councillor Moore would expect, there would not be turmoil - there would be a vast improvement in the Health Service for patients in Barnet - and elsewhere in this Country - as a result of these reforms. I think the Labour Group would be far better to work with us in ensuring that these reforms do work for the benefit of patients rather than just making cheap political points and hoping to cause concern. As far as the LINK is concerned, as Councillor Moore will know, LINKS will be changing into Health Watch and we will - as per the legislation - be supporting them.

Question 32

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

With litigation still ongoing in the process to try and recover the £27.4 million from Icelandic banks, reported in Cabinet papers 2010 to be the 'single most important financial risk facing the Council', would the Cabinet Member please confirm what the litigation costs are to date and how is the litigation being funded?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Costs to date associated with this litigation are £91k since January 2009. Costs are included in the claim and will be repaid if it is successful.

Supplementary Question 32

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Thank you Mr Mayor. I would really like a bit more information. The figure being mentioned is that this Council has had to pay £91,000 in litigation to try and recoup the money from Iceland – the £27.4 million that we're still missing.

What I am not sure about, and maybe I can be enlightened, is this £91,000 money that we have paid out or are we are on a no win no fee agreement and as we have no idea how long this litigation will proceed could I have some idea if there was budget for this litigation? if there is a figure for that over the next 12 months? and if so what is that figure?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, I am always happy to enlighten Labour Councillors and a risk reserve has been set aside for all costs.

Question 33

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

With potholes once again in evidence, when will they be repaired and how will they be prioritised?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

It is expected that pothole reports are attended and made safe within 48 hours, however, these may be programmed (in exceptional circumstances) for immediate or 24 hour response if the report identifies a serious problem or if this is deemed more appropriate. The Councillor will have noticed that thanks to the Pot Hole elimination programme our roads are in a far better condition than many neighbouring Boroughs.

Supplementary Question 33

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

With regard to potholes, the quote by Councillor Coleman that we are in a good position might have been the case prior to the snow and ice of last December. But, right now, I don't actually see any sign of the current state of potholes being filled and I would advise him and any other Councillors that would like to drive northbound over the bridge over Colney Hatch Lane which is a pile of widening holes, and a danger to vehicles not being able to avoid them, or creating a danger to other lanes of traffic when trying to avoid them. Can I have clarification, is Council being proactive in identifying these new areas or is Council waiting for every pothole to be reported or is the truth that the cupboard is bare and work is being held back until the next financial year?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Well, Mr Mayor, I was rather hoping that the supplementary of Councillor Coakley Webb might be making suggestions about how we are going to pay for these pothole repairs but oh no the Labour Group want their cake and to eat it. On the one hand they demand the roads are repaired but on the other hand they demand we don't increase parking fees to pay for it. So, I am waiting for a Labour Member, Mr Mayor, to suggest how we are going to pay for these much needed repairs for our roads.

Question 34

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Is the Administration's proposal to cut the grant to the 'ARTS DEPOT' confirmation of their philistine approach to arts in the Borough or will the Administration listen to the concerns of residents and reconsider funding for the next financial year?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

We will listen to the concern of residents who are worried that her Government left this country with no money and who want children and adult services protected.

Supplementary Question 34

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Again, the question was not answered. Part of the question asks will he reconsider funding for the arts depot, but it wasn't actually answered. Could I have a really simple answer yes or no – to the question you are being paid to answer – will you or will you not reconsider funding to the arts depot?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, our proposal is currently only to cut only 11% of the total funding for the arts depot.

This is a small amount in the grand scheme of things. We are committed, Mr Mayor, to continued funding the excellent work that it does with people with special needs and the like. I look forward to bringing full proposals to help the arts depot survive, I believe that if you look back through history the problems that we are in now were caused by the Labour Party not listening to the concerns. Mr Mayor, I have read the papers in great detail when the arts depot was proposed time after time Labour Councillors were advised that the theatre was not being built big enough to make it survive economically. Did they listen to us? No that is why they are in the position they are in at the moment. I hope that the arts depot survive and I'm sure it will and look forward to coming forward with innovative ideas to ensure that it does.

Question 35

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

If prevention is better than cure why is the Administration obliterating youth services in the full knowledge that this will create huge future costs to the community by not offering support to some of our most needy and vulnerable youngsters?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Given the necessity to reduce revenue spending following the Government's spending review, savings are proposed within the youth support area. The proposed restructuring of youth support services (which would bring together six existing services) aims to ensure that resources are focused on prioritising preventative and support work with the most vulnerable young people, as well as meeting statutory requirements. Within the proposal is the creation of a new targeted youth worker who will be able to intervene at an early stage of a young person being identified as 'at risk'. Preventative work is, essentially, the core driver behind the proposed structure.

Supplementary Question 35

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Thank you, quite simply, all I would like is clarification with regards to youth work. Does the reply actually suggest that this Council will now only be involved in youth work that is covered by a statutory requirement, and that anything else will simply not be funded?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Thank you Mr Mayor. I think that Councillor Coakley Webb seems to have become the Labour Group spokesman on just about everything. I'm delighted now to have my opportunity to join the throng. If Councillor Coakley Webb looked carefully at the youth offer proposals being made by the Childrens Service she would see that of course we are no longer able to fund a universal service but we are creating possibilities for targeted funding for, indeed, those who are most needy, most vulnerable among our children and young people, as my written answer suggests, and those principles are what underlie this Administration's budget proposals throughout.

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Is the Cabinet Member happy to be ringing the death knell on both Barnet Museums by withdrawing Council support for the volunteers who have a passion and the dedication for preserving the history of the Borough?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

I am not happy to make any budget decisions that impact on any voluntary activity in Barnet. Church Farmhouse Museum is directly funded and operated by Council, and Barnet Museum is run by volunteers with a subsidy from the Council to cover building and operating costs. The fact is that the council's priority must be to protect vulnerable people in such a tough financial environment while Barnet Museum is open for only 10 hours a week at a cost to the Council of £7.49 per visit. Church Farmhouse Museum receives just 8,000 visitors a year at a cost of £15 per visit. The consultation set out to invite alternative proposals for management and use of the buildings, and options for the future display and promotion of collections. I welcome any cost-effective proposals that could tap into the dedication of volunteers to preserve the history of the Borough, make it widely available to the public, and provide value for money for Barnet residents.

Supplementary Question 36Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

In relation to, Barnet Museum the museum has asked for an asset transfer in order for them to undertake completely the running and continuation of this really valuable asset to our history. Will the Cabinet Member confirm, if he actually going to comply and go along with this application for asset transfer or is the reality that Council would prefer to get the building, sell it and take the money?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, the museum has come forward with a business plan which we need to look at in great detail to see if it viable. The idea is to let them have it on a commercial lease so that they are able to cover the costs for the maintenance as well as the costs of the lease. I hope that they are able to do that and I look forward to seeing the museum continue.

Question 37Councillor Geof Cooke

Is any Cabinet Member in overall charge of the Council's response to the Information Commissioner's Office audit that exposed many serious failings in the Council's arrangements for protection of confidential data?

Answer by Councillor Melvin Cohen

The Cabinet Member for Governance and Civic Affairs has overall responsibility for the Council's response to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) audit on Data Protection.

It is important for the Council to regularly assess how effective its DP policies and practices are, and to what extent it is meeting the statutory requirements of the Data Protection Act (DPA). To assist in this process (and in light of new powers the ICO now has to fine public authorities for non compliance), the ICO were asked to carry out an independent Data Protection Audit. This was a voluntary audit (for which there was no charge), but one that we were keen to undertake in order to have an independent and expert opinion on where we needed to focus our efforts in order to ensure we were fully compliant.

The Data Protection Action Plan that details the Council's progress against the recommendations made by the Information Commissioner's Office was agreed by the Audit Committee at the 7 December meeting, and this work is being led by the Director of Corporate Governance.

The audit highlighted a number of areas where it felt the Council needed to do more work. A key area of work focussed on training and awareness and ensuring that all staff understood their DPA responsibilities. In response to this a communications and awareness raising campaign was launched in October, part of which was a number of briefing sessions (31 in total) – aimed at all staff across the Council. Nearly 2000 staff attended these sessions, and additional briefings planned for February should raise that number further.

We are expecting a follow up audit to take place in March of this year and, whilst there is still work to do in addressing all of the recommendations, we are confident that the Council will be able to demonstrate significant progress in the key areas highlighted by the auditors.

Supplementary Question 37Councillor Geof Cooke

Councillor Melvin Cohen, thank you for owning up to being responsible for the Council's response to the audit into the Council's failings on safeguarding confidential data because I was a bit concerned because back in July when the report was submitted to the Cabinet Resources Committee it was submitted by 2 other members of the Cabinet and you were not mentioned. This is an important matter with 26 no less recommendations to respond to following the loss of a great amount of school pupil data earlier last year. It is an audit report that did not get reported to the Audit Committee until December, so the report came out in June went to Cabinet Resources in July – Audit Committee didn't get it until December. Is this fragmented and frankly ineffectual response to an extremely important matter good enough?

Answer by Councillor Melvin Cohen

Mr Mayor, I am sick and tired of the continuous whinging and whining from this particular Member. Does he not have the good grace to concede the huge advances that this Administration has made in sorting this problem since first notified.

Question 38

Councillor Anne Hutton

Different models for delivering children's centres in Barnet have now emerged as part of the Council review – which model does the Cabinet Member personally wish to see implemented?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Consultation on children's centres and related services is currently taking place and does not close until 7 February. Cabinet will be fully considering the result of consultation at the Cabinet meeting on 14 February to help us take a decision on the proposal and the most appropriate model for children's centres. Like Cabinet colleagues I will take a view when I have considered all the evidence. I think it unwise to take a view before the results of consultation are known.

Question 39

Councillor Anne Hutton

Is the Cabinet Member pleased that the Government has done a u-turn on the cuts to funding of school sports partnerships?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Barnet benefits from a range of sports opportunities provided in our schools and through other organisations. The announcement of funding to support the ongoing development of physical education and sport in schools is most welcome, especially at a time of constrained resources.

Question 40

Councillor Alison Moore

Has the Leader liaised with the local business community on ameliorating the effects of the Government's new 20% VAT on the local economy?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

No.

Supplementary Question 40

Councillor Alison Moore

Thank you Mr Mayor. In the light of today's report, Councillor Hillan, that the economic growth of the country has stalled and that there has been no growth in the past quarter, will the Leader now reconsider and have that discussion with local businesses to ensure the health of our local economic environment?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

I am actually amazed how you can speak like that about this national crisis which was clearly caused by your Government and we are here yet again sorting out the mess. The 20% VAT was going to happen either way and I am sure that businesses were very well aware of it. The way that we can help our businesses in this Borough is by keeping down our council tax down to 0% increase which allows the economy to flourish.

Question 41

Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

What are residents' choices for paying for parking when parking machines are out of service? Are they required to make calls to the Parking department to pay by bank card? What if they do not have mobile phones or even bank cards?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Cashless parking is the future (and indeed the present) as Westminster City Council have proved beyond doubt. I do not know anyone who is a car driver and does not have access to a mobile phone. If Councillor O-Macauley does I suggest he refers them to the many excellent mobile phone deals available on the High Street.

Supplementary Question 41Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

Thank you very much Mr Mayor. It is the same responsibility is the Cabinet Member is he part of the Big Society yes or no? The Cabinet Member's response is very inadequate I want to ask if the Cabinet Member ever check how many people using pay as you go phones are having to phone Barnet parking services to reason to all the protocols before accessing the service needed. Can the Cabinet Member have a wider consultation on this matter and answer my question properly?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I'm afraid I do not accept that, in this day and age, anyone who is a car driver doesn't have access to a mobile phone. I'm sorry the City of Westminster is completely cashless, cashless is the future coins are the past. Mr Mayor, as you will know banks are withdrawing all cheque cards and replacing them with debit cards so I cannot believe that if you are an active car driver you don't have access to a credit card or debit card and a mobile phone.

Question 42Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

Why was refuse not collected recently over the Christmas period even though the streets where not hazardous for driving?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The Councillor is incorrect, refuse collections took place as per normal in the severe weather leading up to Christmas.

Supplementary Question 42Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

Thank you very much Mr Mayor. I have a question for the Cabinet Member is he part of the Big Society yes or no? Well, it is very obvious that I have heard a similar question on this side this evening about refuse. Well, the refuse was collected in the Cabinet Member's area but was certainly not collected in many areas in Barnet including for over 2 weeks where I was approached by many residents. Can the Cabinet Member double check with the refuse service and write back to me as to what went on?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I am not sure what Councillor O-Macauley is asking me in that question. The refuse service works extremely well with our staff working until 8 or 9 o'clock at night to clear the rounds during the bad weather. We were proactive in sending the gritters up the road in front of the dustcarts. The only 2 days missed were the 2 bank holidays as planned on the Monday and Tuesday after Christmas. I, My Mayor, and I know you are because you up at the Depot and told them so, are very proud of work that the staff of this Borough did. Many residents have come up to me, and know to you Mr Mayor, to thank the refuse staff for maintaining a near normal service during the bad weather over the Christmas and New Year period. And frankly I am sick and tired about the moaning and whinging and carping of opposition Members who want to pick holes and denigrate the efforts of our first class staff.

Council Questions to Cabinet Members
25 January 2011
Questions and Responses

Question 1Councillor Brian Salinger

Can the Cabinet Member for Housing tell the Council how much the Borough is expecting to receive this year by way of its share of the surplus made by the London Housing Consortium?

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

Barnet Homes have not used the LHC for many years and the Council is not expecting to receive any cash this year. The surplus is only distributed to those councils who do give them business.

Supplementary Question 1Councillor Brian Salinger

Thank you Mr Mayor. Can I ask the Cabinet Member whether he is aware that Barnet is one of 12 full members of the LHC and that there are now 46 associate members? At a time when local government is looking to work together, this is a purchasing consortium and one that is exceedingly longstanding, has given benefit to this Borough in the past. Can he explain why it is that we don't use any of their services given that they offer a wide range of products and services available through 12 OJEU compliant pre-tendered framework and negotiated arrangements, which I can give a list of all them and they are not just limited to housing projects. We seem to have opted out of our participation in this organisation at a time when I think we ought to be taking advantage of it.

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

Mr Mayor, I must thank the Councillor for drawing this to my attention. This is indeed an organisation that rather has gone out of fashion with Barnet. Maybe we should look at it again – I accept we should look at it but it could well be that this is simply too remote from Barnet and not of great use to us. We haven't used it since the decent homes programme came in but I would look at it again.

Question 2Councillor Jack Cohen

In relation to Residents Parking Permits and visitors vouchers:

How many Residents parking permits (broken down by first second and third vehicles were issued in 2009/10 and during the current financial year to date (31 December 2010). How much income does this amount to for each of the two periods?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The information is not readily available in the format requested as the records for second and third permits are combined. Taking this into account the figures are as shown in the table below:

	2009/10	2010/11 (part)
First Permits	11,249	8,915
Second / Third Permits	2,455	1,971
Total permits	13,704	10,986
Total Income	£507,964	£469,674

Supplementary Question 2Councillor Jack Cohen

Yes Councillor Coleman, can you tell me why you are proposing to increase the cost of parking permits by well over 100%?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, the reasons are long and complicated as Councillor Cohen knows as he was at Cabinet Overview and Scrutiny last night they include the deficit on the parking account the need to maintain our roads and pavements in this Borough to an adequate standard.

Question 3Councillor Alison Moore

Would the Cabinet Member confirm what the annual cost of the lease for the artsdepot building is, and how much of it the Council is responsible for in the event that the artsdepot as an organisation closes?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

The Council holds the lease of the artsdepot space at a peppercorn rent and recharges it to the Arts Depot Trust for the same. Therefore the Council suffer the loss of only the additional peppercorn rent if the Arts Depot Trust were to cease trading or vacate the building. The Council would then either receive an additional rental income from any new occupant or make a saving itself by relocating services from another site.

With regard to service charges paid by the Trust, these vary over time and the Council would remain liable in the same way as at present. Equally, they would be recharged to any new occupant in the same way as they are now to the Trust.

The Council might also receive directly the income from the Trust's current sub-tenants, depending on how the sub-occupancies were arranged.

The Council is of course working closely with the Trust to ensure its financial viability is maintained.

Question 4Councillor Brian Gordon

Will you join me in congratulating Council staff for the successful road gritting arrangements that went according to plan during the icy weather in December? Will you comment on the success of the "grit bin warden scheme"?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Yes I am delighted that the supreme efforts of Council staff at all levels combined with meticulous planning and dynamic Political Leadership meant the Borough kept running during the recent winter weather. The Worshipful the Mayor, Councillor Longstaff (Chairman Chipping Barnet Area Environment Committee) and I visited the Mill Hill Depot on 19 January to thank the many Council staff for their hard work.

The "grit bin warden scheme" or "Community Keeper" scheme is a pilot scheme that Environment & operations are running this winter and follows on from one of the recommendations of the Task and Finish Group that looked into the winter service provided by the Council during the previous winter.

So far the far the pilot scheme includes two Community Keepers, both in the Golders Green area, and three schools. Two further Community Keepers are being sought from other parts of the Borough.

The primary responsibility of the Community Keeper is to distribute the salt equitably amongst his fellow residents thereby eliminating the misuse of the salt. The Council will support the Community Keepers in their tasks by providing salt, wheel barrows, snow shovels, and weather forecast information.

Supplementary Question 4Councillor Brian Gordon

Can the Councillor confirm that if there is going to be another very cold snap this winter, we are as well equipped now with being able to deal with that, as far as the roads are concerned, as we were in the previous cold snap in December?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I know that you visited the Depot at 6 o'clock one morning last week, and I know staff were very grateful to see you as indeed the Mayoress at the Depot at 6 o'clock in morning, and you would have seen the huge pile of grit that remains there at the Depot. I understand the strategic reserve under the control of the TfL and the Mayor has not been touched and I understand that Her Majesty's Government has yet another secret reserve stored away. So, I am quiet confident that there is sufficient grit in this Borough, available to this Borough, to keep the Borough moving no matter what the Lord Almighty throws at us.

Question 5Councillor Jack Cohen

In relation to Residents Parking Permits and visitors vouchers:

How many books of ten visit vouchers were issued for the same two periods? And how much income does this amount to for each of the two periods and what is the current charge for a book of ten visitor vouchers?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The vouchers are available singly, or in any number, although many people find it convenient to buy them in blocks of ten. As they are currently £1 each a book of ten would cost £10.

	2009/10	2010/11 (part)
Vouchers Issued	191,073	157,384
Income	£191,073	£157,384

Supplementary Question 5Councillor Jack Cohen

Councillor Coleman you say in your answer that a book of permits currently costs £10 for a book of 10. Why then does the schedule of charges presented to the Cabinet Resources Committee show the current charges as £12 per book? Either the figure of £12 is wrong or the Council is being losing revenue this year by under charging which one is it?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

I never knowingly under charge Mr Mayor.

Question 6Councillor Geof Cooke

Please list the items of playground equipment that have been removed from parks and playgrounds in the past year with, for each item, the location and a description of what, if anything, has replaced it including any change in the intended age group of the users.

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Please see table below:

Location	Items Removed	Items Installed in replacement	Age Range
Friary Park	Kompan Junior Swings	None	Junior
	Kompan Junior Multi Unit	Wicksteed Grizzly Multi Unit	Same age range
Hollickwood Park	Toddler Multi Unit	Wicksteed Tom Thumb multi unit	Same age range
	3 Spring Mobiles	2 new spring mobiles including 1 spring see saw	Same age range
Old Court House	Round about	Wicksteed Reactions Eclipse multi unit	Same age range
Victoria Park	Kompan Junior multi unit	Wicksteed grizzly unit	Same age range
	Kompan climbing frame	Wicksteed roundabout	Same age range
	Kompan see saw	Wicksteed see saw	Same age range

Mill Hill Park	Kompan Toddler Multi Unit	Wicksteed Tom Thumb Multi Unit	Same age range
	Kompan Junior Multi Unit	Proludic Junior Multi Unit	Same age range
	Kompan Junior Swings	Wicksteed Junior Swings	Same age range
	Kompan Toddler Swings	Wicksteed Toddler Swings	Same age range
	Kompan Stand alone Slide	None	Toddler

Supplementary Question 6

Councillor Geof Cooke

The feedback that I have had from parents is that play equipment which is challenging and of high play value at Friary Park has been replaced by inferior equipment which detains the children for not so long and is of low play value. What feedback have you had?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

None at all, Mr Mayor.

Question 7

Councillor Brian Gordon

Will the Cabinet Member confirm that cashless parking is available throughout the Borough?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Yes, the Pay-by-Phone system which allows motorists to pay for parking without using coins is available at every location operated by the Council across the Borough.

Supplementary Question 7

Councillor Brian Gordon

I want to ask you about the interim period before we move to being cashless with our parking policy. Is it possible to try a bit harder to see that the machines that are broken are repaired? More and more of them seem to be broken and a lot of people don't understand the position that they can no longer park by those machines that are broken. Also, can the notice on the machines be a bit clearer. It is a little yellow notice that can easily be missed that tells that you can't park anymore by a broken machine, that you as they have to make a phone call or find somewhere else. Many people are being caught out quite innocently by this very small notice.

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Sadly, Mr Mayor, the machines are being vandalised as fast as we repair them and in last few weeks we have even had reports of the labels stuck on the machines informing people how to use the cashless parking system being scrapped off. There are reports that you would have heard from last week on your visit to the Depot from the parking staff themselves. That is why I intend to move to an entirely cashless system, as the City of Westminster operates, very quickly indeed. There will be very prominent notices on the lampposts telling you how to use the system.

Question 8

Councillor Jack Cohen

At the December meeting of the Business Management Overview and Scrutiny Committee meeting Members were informed that "Parking Enforcement" is in "melt down". Do you accept responsibility or do you blame your predecessor?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

I blame circumstances.

Supplementary Question 8

Councillor Jack Cohen

Thank you Mr Mayor. Councillor Coleman is blaming circumstances for the meltdown in parking enforcement.

Given that he admitted last night, Councillor Coleman, that the special parking account could lose up to £2 million in the current financial year due to poor organisation, will the Cabinet Member now tell me what he means by circumstances – is it his complete failure to get to grips with his portfolio or whether does he means that he was never up to the job in the first place?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, Councillor Jack Cohen is not correct as the parking account is not going to lose £2 million, the surplus on the parking account will be £2 million less than was budgeted in the current year's Council budget. That deficit I am advised by the Section 151 Officer in no uncertain terms, has to be made up.

Question 9

Councillor Geof Cooke

What is the latest estimate for the Pension Fund loss arising from the bankrupt Connaught housing maintenance company bond being allowed to lapse?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

There is a risk that the cost to the pension fund will be £1.5m, but this figure is subject to negotiation with the administrator. The Council's actuary has confirmed that this would not impact on the employers contribution rate and therefore would not have an impact on local taxpayers. Staff benefits are also unaffected by this matter.

Supplementary Question 9

Councillor Geof Cooke

I understand that the issue under review here came too late for the triennial review and the consequences from that which took place recently. But, Councillor Thomas are you seriously contending that the £1.5 million black hole in the pension fund will have no impact in the long run on the money which council taxpayers will have to pay by way of employer contributions.

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, the people who know best in this matter, the actuaries, have confirmed otherwise and this issue is being investigated and I understand that a report will be tabled at March's Audit Committee.

Question 10

Councillor Brian Gordon

Will the Cabinet Member confirm that refuse arrangements worked successfully during the Christmas period?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Yes, I can confirm that the week before Christmas when the severe weather took hold we were able to continue the refuse collection service as per normal. During the Christmas period there were two double collections which took place on 3 and 4 January 2011, to replace refuse not collected on the 27 and 28 December (both Bank Holidays). I am very grateful to our hard working staff and I am happy to explain to neighbouring Labour controlled Boroughs how we completed the task so successfully in Barnet. I am also pleased that this Administration ignored the Labour Government siren calls to introduce fortnightly refuse collections.

Supplementary Question 10Councillor Brian Gordon

Thank you for explaining how well the double collection worked after the Christmas period. But, I would like to know if it is absolutely essential that we give all the staff the week off, the whole of the Christmas 'week'. I understand the Christmas days and the actual bank holiday days are sacrosanct as far as these things are concerned and I'm prepared to accept that. But, the other days of the week are not a bank holiday and I just wonder where we got into this situation where there seem to be no refuse collections at all during that particular week.

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

I think Councillor Gordon misunderstands – if only we could afford to give all the staff the week off. There were no collections on the Monday and Tuesday after Christmas which were both bank holidays in lieu of Christmas Day and Boxing Day which fell at the weekend. The rest of that week collections took place as normal.

Question 11Councillor Jack Cohen

When did e-recruitment commence? How many posts have been advertised? And how many filled using e-recruitment since the commencement?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

The e-recruitment project experienced various unexpected delays through the procurement process and therefore has not yet been implemented. The project is now in the implementation phase and the system development with our software supplier commenced in early January. The roll out of the newly branded "One Barnet" jobs and careers website and the recruitment administration system will take 10-12 weeks, with a launch date of Monday 28 March 2011.

Supplementary Question 11Councillor Jack Cohen

Councillor Hillan, thank you for explaining that the implementation of e-recruitment had been delayed and the launched date has now been scheduled for 28 March 2011. At the Cabinet meeting on 29 October 2010 a report on the estimated financial benefits of Phase 1 of the One Barnet Project showed a saving of £106,000 due to the implementation of e-recruitment in the financial year 2010-11. Would you agree with me that this figure must be wrong and throws into doubt all the projected savings of the One Barnet Project?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

I am sure that the figures would have been changed and obviously we will be ending this financial year with the figures as amended accordingly. It is nice to know Councillor Cohen you are such a fan of One Barnet though.

Question 12Councillor Barry Rawlings

Would the Cabinet Member advise how the Council can conduct a new relationship with citizens if democracy pages on the Council website still list former Councillors as current Councillors?

Answer by Councillor Melvin Cohen

Following the elections in May 2010, the website was updated to include information on the current Members and to delete that pertaining to retiring Members. However, whilst there was and is an up-to-date list of all Councillors on the website, it appears that some of the associated links did still have reference to former Councillors and these have now been removed from the system. Democratic Services have also recently conducted further work relating to information on the website to ensure that the information on links relating to Members is fully up-to-date. Where anomalies were evident, namely due to duplication of information and outdated information that had not been deleted (as new information was put on the website) these have been remedied as far as possible.

Question 13

Councillor Tom Davey

Please could the Cabinet Member outline how LBB is performing in handling residents' phone calls?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

This has been an area of service where the Council has struggled in the past. However, performance has been improving month on month for the last year and in the quarter to January 2011 we have exceeded our target for answering calls within 20 seconds. This is the first time that I can remember this target being exceeded and, moreover, we have achieved this during a period of very poor weather which, historically, has presented huge demands on our call centres. At the same time, residents' satisfaction with the quality of service they receive from the Council's customer services staff remains high. But I do not want us to rest on our laurels and we are increasing our target for the fourth quarter of the year.

Question 14

Councillor Ansuya Sodha

What extra services will be provided to residents by the parking department to merit a 150% increase in the charge for residents' parking permit (from £40 to £100)?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

The increased revenue will ensure that the parking fund surplus can be used to improve our roads and pavements to the benefit of all Borough residents.

Supplementary Question 14

Councillor Ansuya Sodha

In other words residents living in the CPZs will be paying to resurface roads in other areas of the Borough where there are no CPZs. Is that so, Councillor Coleman?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Including, Mr Mayor, in Councillor Sodha's own Ward for which no doubt she will be claiming the credit.

Question 15

Councillor Andrew Strongoulou

Could the Cabinet Member please outline what Barnet is currently doing to give local disabled people more control over their lives?

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

The Council has been implementing a programme of activity to give disabled people more control over their lives, namely the 'Delivering Choice and Independence' programme since 2007.

One objective of this programme is to create a 'consumer led Adult Social Services Directorate'. This has led to a comprehensive revision of our case management practices designed to ensure that recipients of social care maximise their control over their lives. Two key elements of this have been:

- The introduction of 'homecare enablement'. This is the provision of time-limited packages of intensive support designed to help people learn and re-learn the skills necessary for them to live independently at home. 50% of recipients of homecare enablement are not in receipt of social care 90 days after its completion.¹ By contrast, before homecare enablement was introduced, 75% of people were still receiving traditional homecare or a direct payment seven weeks after being referred to us.²
- The introduction of 'personal budgets'. When someone receives a personal budget, they know how much money they have to spend on their social care and can thus take control over the design and management of their package of support. By the end of 2010/11, the Council's target is that 30% of the people Adult Social Services supports to live in the community will have taken this control of their social care funding through a personal budget or a direct payment.

The other objective of the Delivering Choice and Independence programme is to create a 'consumer led local social care market'. Examples of recent and current initiatives to incentivise social care providers to be more responsive to the demands of disabled people include:

- The 'Innovation Fund': a 'pot' of £200,000 of small grants allocated to organisations which are developing new service models which give disabled people control over their lives.
- 'Social Care Connect': a online directory of social care services on which people can rate the quality of the support they receive and discuss aspects of their care with peers in discussion groups.
- 'Transforming Community Equipment Services': moving to a 'prescription' system for simple occupational therapy equipment. This allows people to cash in prescriptions for equipment at local shops (such as pharmacies) – choosing to 'top up' their prescription with their own money if they decide to choose a piece of equipment which is more expensive than that normally provided by the State.

In January 2010, the London Borough of Barnet, Barnet Centre for Independent Living and local offices of the Jobcentre Plus successfully bid to be one of seven 'trailblazer' sites for the 'Right to Control'. This is a new legal right to give disabled people coordinated control over money and support they receive from the following funding streams:

- Social care;
- Community equipment;
- Disabled Facilities Grant;
- Independent Living Fund;
- Some Supporting People services;
- Work Choice; and
- Access to Work.

Disabled people gained the Right to Control on 13 December 2010. This places the Council at the forefront, nationally, of providing disabled people with control over numerous areas of their lives, including the support they receive for social care, housing and employment.

Question 16

Councillor Barry Rawlings

² 2008 data.

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

It is assumed that this is referring to delayed discharges from hospital due to Social Services. Barnet Social Services has got an excellent record in relation to preventing delays at the two acute hospitals (Barnet & Chase Farm and Royal Free Hospital) over a number of years. Delays do occasionally happen but are often due to external and exceptional circumstances including but not limited to client and relative choice and complex placements. There has been no change over the winter months to our excellent performance of ensuring no delays.

Over the last couple of years additional pressures relating to the increase in seasonal demand due to winter have been increasing nationally and there has been huge demand and pressure on the system over the past few weeks during the Christmas and snow period.

Barnet has in place systems and procedures to deal with this; indeed Barnet was green rated by the North Central London sector for its Capacity Plan (the Barnet Capacity Plan brings together our local organisational plans for dealing with a period of increased demand for unplanned health and social care) and general preparedness for winter. Barnet has a system of regular conference calls between relevant health and social care staff, so that any blockages in the system can be dealt with by the relevant managers or escalated as necessary. Barnet also participates in the North Central London daily conference calls.

Question 17

Councillor Agnes Slocombe

Eric Pickles and the Government say that frontline services should not face cuts as a result of the local government settlement – would the Leader advise why Barnet is proposing cuts to frontline services?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

The Council is making the majority of savings by improving efficiency and re-designing services, rather than making cuts, which is the challenge that Mr Pickles is setting local government. However, in the context of a budget gap of more than £40m, it is very difficult not to touch frontline services when delivering a balanced budget but our proposals are aimed to minimise the impact on service delivery.

Question 18

Councillor Agnes Slocombe

Would the Leader advise how many frontline staff have been made redundant for each year since 2002, and how many she expects will finally be made redundant as a result of the forthcoming budget?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

31 March 2011	31 March 2011	2010-09	2009-08	2008-07	2007-06	2006-05
Per the Budget Proposals – Projected Employee redundancies	Estimated front line redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies	Frontline redundancies
345	221 ^{3*}	34	19	19	7	17

Question 19

Councillor Agnes Slocombe

³ 196 of these are estimated to fall in Children's Service, but it is expected that this figure will reduce as budget proposals are finalised. We defined front line as being posts which are not back office, support or management according to HR data. Examples of front line posts counted in these figures are: grounds staff; street enforcement officers; customer services agents; highways maintenance; park keepers; revs and bens assistants; librarians.

Would the Leader advise if the Council has informed Eric Pickles yet about the number of redundancies Barnet expects to make as a result of the forthcoming budget?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

Advance notification of potential redundancies is required from employers proposing to make 20 more employees redundant within a period of 90 days. The Redundancy Payments Service (RPS), which is part of the Insolvency Service, acting on behalf of the Secretary of State for Business, Innovation and Skills, collects the information and distributes it to the appropriate Government Departments and Agencies. The HR1 form which initiates this was faxed to the Insolvency Service by the Head of Business Partnering & Change on 2 December and a transmission receipt received, a further e-mail confirmation was received from the Insolvency Service on 3 December 2010.

Question 20

Councillor Andrew McNeil

Would the Cabinet Member advise how the Barnet Museum will be able to remain open without the Council's financial support?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

These are extremely difficult times for councils and in such times we have to consider challenging proposals. Barnet Museum is expected to cost the Council £23,110 this year. It is open for 10 hours a week and has 3,087 visitors a year with a direct cost to the Council of £7.49 per visit. Given these facts, I think it is hard to justify continuing the level of funding we give to Barnet Museum when our priority has to be to protect services for the most vulnerable people in the Borough. That said, I am keen to hear any alternatives that help mitigate the impact of these proposals on Barnet Museum, and await the results of the consultation to assess whether viable alternative options have been suggested.

Question 21

Councillor Andrew McNeil

Would the Cabinet Member advise what provision is being made by the Council to ensure that the 17th Century Church Farm House retains its listed status?

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

This listing is in the hands of the Secretary of State. Any change is not in the gift of the Council.

Question 22

Councillor Gill Sargeant

Would the Cabinet Member outline the details of all repairs undertaken on the district heating system in Grahame Park during December?

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

At the beginning of December 2010 because of a water leak of some 24,000 gallons on the District Heating System, all heating and hot water was lost to the domestic properties on the Graham Park Estate and St James School and Barnet College.

Barnet Homes Emergency planning was implemented and the Council arranged a meeting on 2 December at St James School. This was attended by all the affected organisations, and Council officers to discuss the work needed to restore services and the risks to residents and other people.

The cause was identified by a team of Engineers from Barnet Homes as a leak on the non-domestic pipe work. This testing required isolating each part of the system in turn and also some excavation work. The defective pipes were isolated and the heating was restored very quickly to the domestic properties. Whilst repairs were undertaken, operations staff from Barnet Homes arranged for all residents to have temporary heating. Homes were visited to ensure that vulnerable customers were given appropriate support.

Barnet Homes Engineers continued in extreme weather conditions to test the piping runs in relation to the college and the school to identify the precise location of the leak and fix it. Staff worked actively with the school and college to install temporary heating and enable as many pre-planned activities and lessons to continue.

Along with the emergency work, Barnet Homes procured the services of a specialist consultant to plan for the provision of a temporary boiler house for the School and College. Fortunately, this was not needed as the leak was successfully identified as being under the Grahame Park Youth Wing and was isolated and repaired to enable full restoration of heating to the School and College before the end of term.

Barnet Homes are continuing to work with the consultant team in order to develop a specific, priced contingency plan should this type of event recur in the future.

The leak was repaired fully to the Youth Wing on 17 December.

Councillor Gill Sargeant

Thank you for your answer Councillor Cornelius, but I really wanted an understanding of some of the issues regarding the individual blocks of homes that loss heating. And, also because just it mentions that there were a range of homes – over the Christmas period most of Grahame Park Estate had problems with their heating throughout and I know that Barnet Homes worked incredibly hard to do this and I wanted that everybody be made aware just how many people had suffered and how many blocks were effected. And, I hope this question will lead to consideration to increased funding given that the delay in the regeneration of the Estate could well cause serious problems to heating for years to come.

Answer by Councillor Richard Cornelius

Mr Mayor, I regret the spelling error and that was obviously very careless of me and I am very sorry for that. The question on the heating, as Councillor Sargeant knows, to lose 35,000 gallons of hot water from a heating system is a serious problem. Not to know where the leak is and to have excavators in action to find it is a necessity in a complicated process. The heating system is very old and why we are regenerating the Estate.

Question 23

Councillor Alex Brodwin

Will the proposed changes to the Space Day Centre in Edgware mean that it is not guaranteed to be open five days per week? In addition, have service users been consulted about the possibility of the Space not being open for five days per week?

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

It is important to distinguish between The Space as a service and The Space as a building. When we asked service users what they liked about coming to The Space, they replied that they enjoyed seeing friends, staff, taking part in activities and going out for the day. All of these things will be important features of the new service. Service users rarely mentioned the building itself. In fact, the building is often quite empty during the day even now, with lots of service users going out to activities.

The new service, incorporating both The Space and Community Support Team, is certainly intended to operate five days a week and possibly even more, with some people choosing support at weekends. The schedules, times, and locations of activities for individual service users will be informed by their plans. We expect that some individuals will prefer a more flexible timetable than a five days per week, 9am – 5pm programme.

Whilst we do expect to use The Space building less over time, we recognise that there will still be some demand for the current building – particularly in the early stages of identifying the most suitable buildings for specific activities.

At the consultation with service users we did not specifically mention, as this would have been misleading, the possibility of The Space not being open for five days a week – the new service will operate five days a week.

However, we did consult about:

- How service users would feel spending time in community buildings other than the current day centre.
*Some people said they would be sad if the day centre did not operate as a permanent base. People raised concerns about safety and keeping warm during the winter weather if they were out and about.
- How service users would feel having a more flexible day timetable, where for example their day starts later and finishes after an activity in the evening.
People said they would like to take part in evening activities, but some people said they did not want to be at home during the day.
- How service users would feel having a more flexible weekly timetable, where for example they do not access the service for one day during the week and are supported to get to an activity they want to participate in at the weekend.
People said different things about whether they wanted to do things every day or just on some days during the week.

We will be incorporating the views of service users (and of parents and carers) into the planning process.

Supplementary Question 23

Councillor Alex Brodtkin

In Councillor Rajput's lengthy response he says that "we do expect to use The Space building less over time". In the interests of much needed clarity over this very sensitive issue could he categorically state how many days a week this day centre will be open and for those days that it is not open could he explain which alternative venues will perform the services that it currently provides?

Answer by Councillor Sachin Rajput

Mr Mayor, I think my response quite simply needs to be that the paper that you have before you provides the response that you need. We have consulted with people, we have distinguished between the services provided and the building; and of course there is scope for more uses than 5 days a week in the manner that my response provides.

Question 24Councillor Alex Brodtkin

Given the Council's decision to withdraw funding to Church Farm House Museum and Barnet Museum, what measures will the Council take to ensure that the artefacts and materials presently housed in these museums remain available to Barnet residents?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

The Council is looking at options to maintain the availability of artefacts and materials within the Borough. I would be interested to hear any proposals that help us achieve this.

Supplementary Question 24Councillor Alex Brodtkin

I am very grateful to Councillor Rams invited me to make suggestions on the availability of material and artefacts, but I would have hoped that he had considered this before pulling the plug on the entire funding. But, if he wants suggestions, what can he do to enlighten me by telling me about the viability of storing artefacts and materials in libraries and Friary House that I believe being mooted. Hardly, ideal proposals but I would be interested to hear his thoughts.

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, firstly I hope that the museums will stay where they are. I believe they will come forward with business plans to enable them to take a proper lease to the properties and therefore I hope that they will be staying in their exact properties. If that is not the case, we have already made a number of suggestions including libraries as he said, Priory House and other places for the collections to be held. Sadly, Barnet Museum, especially, doesn't seem to want to move out of High Barnet although it is a museum of Barnet and is not reciprocal to our suggestions and offers for providing new places for it. But, libraries are one option that we are looking at as you said as well as Priory House. There are a number of options on the table but I do hope that they would be staying exactly where they are.

Question 25Councillor Alex Brodtkin

What is the current charge for a Barnet resident if they want to replace a wheeled bin which is stolen or has disappeared by means other than through the fault of the refuse crews?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Supplementary Question 26Councillor Alex Brodtkin

Full marks to Councillor Coleman for brevity but I imagine that the resident who is charged £57 for replacement of a bin that they might be a victim of crime to have loss by might ask the question – why they are paying £57 in this Borough and most other Boroughs in London don't pay anyway near as much as this? Why there is no second hand bin available at a cheaper price? Why there is no discount when you report it within 24 hours? Perhaps, residents would also like to know why there is no distinction between being a victim of crime and having a bin lost and losing it willy nilly?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, a resident may well ask that but I'm not so sure that a resident would want a second hand bin but there we go. I think that Councillor Brodtkin makes a very sensible point there perhaps he might suggest that this is a matter for scrutiny and we can have a scrutiny into bin replacement programme. But, all I know it is very difficult, Mr Mayor, to tell the difference between a resident who has suffered a theft of a wheelie bin and a resident who has been perhaps a little bit careless with their wheelie bin.

Question 26Councillor Alan Schneiderman

What capitalisation requests have been made to the Department for Communities and Local Government over the last year and for the forthcoming budget and what is the outcome of those requests?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

The Council made a request to capitalise costs associated with redundancy and also to capitalise losses arising from the potential impairment of Icelandic bank deposits. The Council received a £2.3m approval for capitalisation of costs of redundancy, but was refused a directive to capitalise losses from the potential impairment of bank deposits.

Supplementary Question 26

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. Does the Government's latest refusal to capitalise Barnet's Icelandic bank losses not mean that residents are paying for this Administration's decision to chase high interest rates and by setting aside an earmarked risk reserve in the budget, millions of pounds worth of planned cuts in frontline services are actually being made to pay for those Icelandic bank losses.

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, no it doesn't.

Question 27

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Why did the Cabinet endorse cutting the Council's internal audit service when officers believed that the proposed cut would reduce the service by an unacceptable level?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

The Council faces tough choices on spending cuts, and no area of the Council should be exempt from reviewing their costs and coming up with more efficient ways of delivering services. Officers have been working up alternative proposals that would not reduce the level of service to the level initially indicated.

Supplementary Question 27

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. When I raised the internal audit cuts back in October I was told that it would not affect the internal audit service which is now acknowledged not to be the case. So it is good to see that this ill-thought cut out is now been reconsidered, but why has he and the rest of the Cabinet approved it as an option given the warning that officers had given.

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, the Cabinet were right to be ambitious with savings across all the services in the Borough and it now transpires that the One Barnet approach of sharing back office services may actually save costs. We are now talking with Enfield, and sharing the service with them should be able to realise all the savings in the proposals. So, I'm glad that we have been ambitious and quite clearly the Labour Group would not have been as ambitious.

Question 28

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Is the closure of Barnet museum, which is staffed by volunteers, an example of the Big Society in action?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Barnet Museum operates with a significant Council subsidy to maintain the building and support running costs. The proposal to withdraw funding from Barnet Museum also invited comments and contributions to suggest alternative ideas to manage both Museum buildings, the collections and artefacts. I am keen to hear any cost-effective proposals that support volunteers in making the history of the Borough widely available to the public.

Supplementary Question 28

Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. As we know Barnet Museum is run by volunteers who are giving up their time without pay to run that museum. So, how come the much trumpeted Big Society actually work if the Council refuses to pay the running costs or is he going to ask the volunteers to pay the electricity bill as well?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, Barnet Museum have put forward a business case which in fact they will be paying the electricity bill.

Question 29Councillor Geoff Johnson

Can the Cabinet Member confirm that all school crossing patrols will be maintained, and none will be cut?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

No.

Supplementary Question 29Councillor Geoff Johnson

Mr Mayor, thank you very much. I would like to submit a petition after my supplementary. In the answer to my question I take that to mean that your going to cut school crossing patrols. Please can you confirm which schools are going to have their school crossing patrol cut?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, Councillor Johnson is entirely correct. There are 10 schools though historic accident, that nobody can remember, are still funded centrally by the Council. Of those 10, 4 members of staff wish to retire and it is open to the schools to make their own crossing patrol arrangements just as it is open to them to make their own staffing arrangements in all other areas. This is an anomaly which has slipped through for many years – quite why we are funding 10 crossing patrols when the other 110 schools in the Borough are not having centrally funded crossing patrols nobody can remember.

Question 30Councillor Alan Schneiderman

What are the potential future uses for Church Farm House museum?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

The building has many potential uses and I would expect it to attract interest from local organisations as well as commercial organisations.

Supplementary Question 30Councillor Alan Schneiderman

Thank you Mr Mayor. Given that Church Farm House museum is a Grade Two Star Listed Building surely alternative uses are in fact actually limited. And, should we not actually be saving our heritage, listen to the thousands of residents who have signed a petition and want it to remain a museum as it has been for more than 50 years through economic times both good and bad. Do you now commit keeping the museum open on that site?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, if the thousands of residents that signed the petition actually went to the museum maybe it would be more supportive.

Question 31Councillor Alison Moore

Why wasn't the LINK contract let to Community Barnet in the first place, and could the Cabinet Member give details of how the Government grant to fund the establishment of the LINK was spent?

Answer by Councillor Helena Hart

BVSC (now known as Community Barnet) was one of the three organisations submitting tenders for the original contract – the others being Community Investors Development Agency (CIDA) and Parkwood Healthcare Ltd. The Tenders were reported to Cabinet Resources Committee on 22 July 2008 with 70% of the evaluation based on quality and 30% on price.

The CIDA bid was significantly ahead of the others' both in terms of price and quality. The latter evaluation included clarification and amplification through interviews and gave CIDA 251 points (out of a maximum of 280 points): Therefore, in accordance with established Council policy, as CIDA had scored highest both on quality and price, they were awarded the Contract.

A sum of £542,000 was added to Barnet's Area Based Grant over the period 2008/9 to 2010/11, which was equivalent to the Department of Health's expenditure on the PPI fora which preceded LINKS. However the point of Area Based Grant is that it is not ring fenced, giving the Council greater flexibility over how it used to support the Council's overall priorities.

The contract with CIDA was to the value of £413,000 over three years. The only expenditure outside this was staff costs of contract monitoring (which are not separately recorded) and legal matters relating to the contractual dispute with CIDA.

There was an additional one off grant of £10,000 in 2007/2008 from the Department of Health to help Local Authorities prepare for LINKS. This supported staff time in undertaking the additional responsibilities of getting LINKS started, particularly prior to the appointment of a host – and the costs of staging an awareness raising Conference in July 2008.

Supplementary Question 31

Councillor Alison Moore

Thank you Mr Mayor. Councillor Hart, given the turmoil over the next few years that will be created across the health sector by Andrew Lansbury's NHS proposal and the public concerns that is already causing, can I have your assurance that you are doing everything that you can to support the work of the LINK?

Answer by Councillor Helena Hart

Thank you Mr Mayor. First of all, as Councillor Moore would expect, there would not be turmoil - there would be a vast improvement in the Health Service for patients in Barnet - and elsewhere in this Country - as a result of these reforms. I think the Labour Group would be far better to work with us in ensuring that these reforms do work for the benefit of patients rather than just making cheap political points and hoping to cause concern. As far as the LINK is concerned, as Councillor Moore will know, LINKS will be changing into Health Watch and we will - as per the legislation - be supporting them.

Question 32

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

With litigation still ongoing in the process to try and recover the £27.4 million from Icelandic banks, reported in Cabinet papers 2010 to be the 'single most important financial risk facing the Council', would the Cabinet Member please confirm what the litigation costs are to date and how is the litigation being funded?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Costs to date associated with this litigation are £91k since January 2009. Costs are included in the claim and will be repaid if it is successful.

Supplementary Question 32

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Thank you Mr Mayor. I would really like a bit more information. The figure being mentioned is that this Council has had to pay £91,000 in litigation to try and recoup the money from Iceland – the £27.4 million that we're still missing.

What I am not sure about, and maybe I can be enlightened, is this £91,000 money that we have paid out or are we are on a no win no fee agreement and as we have no idea how long this litigation will proceed could I have some idea if there was budget for this litigation? if there is a figure for that over the next 12 months? and if so what is that figure?

Answer by Councillor Daniel Thomas

Mr Mayor, I am always happy to enlighten Labour Councillors and a risk reserve has been set aside for all costs.

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

With potholes once again in evidence, when will they be repaired and how will they be prioritised?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

It is expected that pothole reports are attended and made safe within 48 hours, however, these may be programmed (in exceptional circumstances) for immediate or 24 hour response if the report identifies a serious problem or if this is deemed more appropriate. The Councillor will have noticed that thanks to the Pot Hole elimination programme our roads are in a far better condition than many neighbouring Boroughs.

Supplementary Question 33

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

With regard to potholes, the quote by Councillor Coleman that we are in a good position might have been the case prior to the snow and ice of last December. But, right now, I don't actually see any sign of the current state of potholes being filled and I would advise him and any other Councillors that would like to drive northbound over the bridge over Colney Hatch Lane which is a pile of widening holes, and a danger to vehicles not being able to avoid them, or creating a danger to other lanes of traffic when trying to avoid them. Can I have clarification, is Council being proactive in identifying these new areas or is Council waiting for every pothole to be reported or is the truth that the cupboard is bare and work is being held back until the next financial year?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Well, Mr Mayor, I was rather hoping that the supplementary of Councillor Coakley Webb might be making suggestions about how we are going to pay for these pothole repairs but oh no the Labour Group want their cake and to eat it. On the one hand they demand the roads are repaired but on the other hand they demand we don't increase parking fees to pay for it. So, I am waiting for a Labour Member, Mr Mayor, to suggest how we are going to pay for these much needed repairs for our roads.

Question 34

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Is the Administration's proposal to cut the grant to the 'ARTS DEPOT' confirmation of their philistine approach to arts in the Borough or will the Administration listen to the concerns of residents and reconsider funding for the next financial year?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

We will listen to the concern of residents who are worried that her Government left this country with no money and who want children and adult services protected.

Supplementary Question 34

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Again, the question was not answered. Part of the question asks will he reconsider funding for the arts depot, but it wasn't actually answered. Could I have a really simple answer yes or no – to the question you are being paid to answer – will you or will you not reconsider funding to the arts depot?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, our proposal is currently only to cut only 11% of the total funding for the arts depot.

This is a small amount in the grand scheme of things. We are committed, Mr Mayor, to continued funding the excellent work that it does with people with special needs and the like. I look forward to bringing full proposals to help the arts depot survive, I believe that if you look back through history the problems that we are in now were caused by the Labour Party not listening to the concerns. Mr Mayor, I have read the papers in great detail when the arts depot was proposed time after time Labour Councillors were advised that the theatre was not being built big enough to make it survive economically. Did they listen to us? No that is why they are in the position they are in at the moment. I hope that the arts depot survive and I'm sure it will and look forward to coming forward with innovative ideas to ensure that it does.

Question 35

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

If prevention is better than cure why is the Administration obliterating youth services in the full knowledge that this will create huge future costs to the community by not offering support to some of our most needy and vulnerable youngsters?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Given the necessity to reduce revenue spending following the Government's spending review, savings are proposed within the youth support area. The proposed restructuring of youth support services (which would bring together six existing services) aims to ensure that resources are focused on prioritising preventative and support work with the most vulnerable young people, as well as meeting statutory requirements. Within the proposal is the creation of a new targeted youth worker who will be able to intervene at an early stage of a young person being identified as 'at risk'. Preventative work is, essentially, the core driver behind the proposed structure.

Supplementary Question 35

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Thank you, quite simply, all I would like is clarification with regards to youth work. Does the reply actually suggest that this Council will now only be involved in youth work that is covered by a statutory requirement, and that anything else will simply not be funded?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Thank you Mr Mayor. I think that Councillor Coakley Webb seems to have become the Labour Group spokesman on just about everything. I'm delighted now to have my opportunity to join the throng. If Councillor Coakley Webb looked carefully at the youth offer proposals being made by the Childrens Service she would see that of course we are no longer able to fund a universal service but we are creating possibilities for targeted funding for, indeed, those who are most needy, most vulnerable among our children and young people, as my written answer suggests, and those principles are what underlie this Administration's budget proposals throughout.

Question 36

Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

Is the Cabinet Member happy to be ringing the death knell on both Barnet Museums by withdrawing Council support for the volunteers who have a passion and the dedication for preserving the history of the Borough?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

I am not happy to make any budget decisions that impact on any voluntary activity in Barnet. Church Farmhouse Museum is directly funded and operated by Council, and Barnet Museum is run by volunteers with a subsidy from the Council to cover building and operating costs. The fact is that the council's priority must be to protect vulnerable people in such a tough financial environment while Barnet Museum is open for only 10 hours a week at a cost to the Council of £7.49 per visit. Church Farmhouse Museum receives just 8,000 visitors a year at a cost of £15 per visit. The consultation set out to invite alternative proposals for management and use of the buildings, and options for the future display and promotion of collections. I welcome any cost-effective proposals that could tap into the dedication of volunteers to preserve the history of the Borough, make it widely available to the public, and provide value for money for Barnet residents.

Supplementary Question 36Councillor Pauline Coakley Webb

In relation to, Barnet Museum the museum has asked for an asset transfer in order for them to undertake completely the running and continuation of this really valuable asset to our history. Will the Cabinet Member confirm, if he actually going to comply and go along with this application for asset transfer or is the reality that Council would prefer to get the building, sell it and take the money?

Answer by Councillor Robert Rams

Mr Mayor, the museum has come forward with a business plan which we need to look at in great detail to see if it viable. The idea is to let them have it on a commercial lease so that they are able to cover the costs for the maintenance as well as the costs of the lease. I hope that they are able to do that and I look forward to seeing the museum continue.

Question 37Councillor Geof Cooke

Is any Cabinet Member in overall charge of the Council's response to the Information Commissioner's Office audit that exposed many serious failings in the Council's arrangements for protection of confidential data?

Answer by Councillor Melvin Cohen

The Cabinet Member for Governance and Civic Affairs has overall responsibility for the Council's response to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) audit on Data Protection.

It is important for the Council to regularly assess how effective its DP policies and practices are, and to what extent it is meeting the statutory requirements of the Data Protection Act (DPA). To assist in this process (and in light of new powers the ICO now has to fine public authorities for non compliance), the ICO were asked to carry out an independent Data Protection Audit. This was a voluntary audit (for which there was no charge), but one that we were keen to undertake in order to have an independent and expert opinion on where we needed to focus our efforts in order to ensure we were fully compliant.

The Data Protection Action Plan that details the Council's progress against the recommendations made by the Information Commissioner's Office was agreed by the Audit Committee at the 7 December meeting, and this work is being led by the Director of Corporate Governance.

The audit highlighted a number of areas where it felt the Council needed to do more work. A key area of work focussed on training and awareness and ensuring that all staff understood their DPA responsibilities. In response to this a communications and awareness raising campaign was launched in October, part of which was a number of briefing sessions (31 in total) – aimed at all staff across the Council. Nearly 2000 staff attended these sessions, and additional briefings planned for February should raise that number further.

We are expecting a follow up audit to take place in March of this year and, whilst there is still work to do in addressing all of the recommendations, we are confident that the Council will be able to demonstrate significant progress in the key areas highlighted by the auditors.

Supplementary Question 37Councillor Geof Cooke

Councillor Melvin Cohen, thank you for owning up to being responsible for the Council's response to the audit into the Council's failings on safeguarding confidential data because I was a bit concerned because back in July when the report was submitted to the Cabinet Resources Committee it was submitted by 2 other members of the Cabinet and you were not mentioned. This is an important matter with 26 no less recommendations to respond to following the loss of a great amount of school pupil data earlier last year. It is an audit report that did not get reported to the Audit Committee until December, so the report came out in June went to Cabinet Resources in July – Audit Committee didn't get it until December. Is this fragmented and frankly ineffectual response to an extremely important matter good enough?

Answer by Councillor Melvin Cohen

Mr Mayor, I am sick and tired of the continuous whinging and whining from this particular Member. Does he not have the good grace to concede the huge advances that this Administration has made in sorting this problem since first notified.

Question 38Councillor Anne Hutton

Different models for delivering children's centres in Barnet have now emerged as part of the Council review – which model does the Cabinet Member personally wish to see implemented?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Consultation on children's centres and related services is currently taking place and does not close until 7 February. Cabinet will be fully considering the result of consultation at the Cabinet meeting on 14 February to help us take a decision on the proposal and the most appropriate model for children's centres. Like Cabinet colleagues I will take a view when I have considered all the evidence. I think it unwise to take a view before the results of consultation are known.

Question 39Councillor Anne Hutton

Is the Cabinet Member pleased that the Government has done a u-turn on the cuts to funding of school sports partnerships?

Answer by Councillor Andrew Harper

Barnet benefits from a range of sports opportunities provided in our schools and through other organisations. The announcement of funding to support the ongoing development of physical education and sport in schools is most welcome, especially at a time of constrained resources.

Question 40Councillor Alison Moore

Has the Leader liaised with the local business community on ameliorating the effects of the Government's new 20% VAT on the local economy?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

No.

Supplementary Question 40Councillor Alison Moore

Thank you Mr Mayor. In the light of today's report, Councillor Hillan, that the economic growth of the country has stalled and that there has been no growth in the past quarter, will the Leader now reconsider and have that discussion with local businesses to ensure the health of our local economic environment?

Answer by Councillor Lynne Hillan, Leader of the Council

I am actually amazed how you can speak like that about this national crisis which was clearly caused by your Government and we are here yet again sorting out the mess. The 20% VAT was going to happen either way and I am sure that businesses were very well aware of it. The way that we can help our businesses in this Borough is by keeping down our council tax down to 0% increase which allows the economy to flourish.

Question 41Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

What are residents' choices for paying for parking when parking machines are out of service? Are they required to make calls to the Parking department to pay by bank card? What if they do not have mobile phones or even bank cards?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Cashless parking is the future (and indeed the present) as Westminster City Council have proved beyond doubt. I do not know anyone who is a car driver and does not have access to a mobile phone. If Councillor O-Macauley does I suggest he refers them to the many excellent mobile phone deals available on the High Street.

Supplementary Question 41Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

Thank you very much Mr Mayor. It is the same responsibility is the Cabinet Member is he part of the Big Society yes or no? The Cabinet Member's response is very inadequate I want to ask if the Cabinet Member ever check how many people using pay as you go phones are having to phone Barnet parking services to reason to all the protocols before accessing the service needed. Can the Cabinet Member have a wider consultation on this matter and answer my question properly?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I'm afraid I do not accept that, in this day and age, anyone who is a car driver doesn't have access to a mobile phone. I'm sorry the City of Westminster is completely cashless, cashless is the future coins are the past. Mr Mayor, as you will know banks are withdrawing all cheque cards and replacing them with debit cards so I cannot believe that if you are an active car driver you don't have access to a credit card or debit card and a mobile phone.

Question 42Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

Why was refuse not collected recently over the Christmas period even though the streets where not hazardous for driving?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Supplementary Question 42Councillor Charlie O-Macauley

Thank you very much Mr Mayor. I have a question for the Cabinet Member is he part of the Big Society yes or no? Well, it is very obvious that I have heard a similar question on this side this evening about refuse. Well, the refuse was collected in the Cabinet Member's area but was certainly not collected in many areas in Barnet including for over 2 weeks where I was approached by many residents. Can the Cabinet Member double check with the refuse service and write back to me as to what went on?

Answer by Councillor Brian Coleman

Mr Mayor, I am not sure what Councillor O-Macauley is asking me in that question. The refuse service works extremely well with our staff working until 8 or 9 o'clock at night to clear the rounds during the bad weather. We were proactive in sending the gritters up the road in front of the dustcarts. The only 2 days missed were the 2 bank holidays as planned on the Monday and Tuesday after Christmas. I, My Mayor, and I know you are because you up at the Depot and told them so, are very proud of work that the staff of this Borough did. Many residents have come up to me, and know to you Mr Mayor, to thank the refuse staff for maintaining a near normal service during the bad weather over the Christmas and New Year period. And frankly I am sick and tired about the moaning and whinging and carping of opposition Members who want to pick holes and denigrate the efforts of our first class staff.

The Leader of the Council and the Cabinet Member for Resources and Performance presented their recommendations on the Budget, the levels of Council Tax and the Medium-Term financial strategy for 2011/12 to 2013/4.

The Cabinet Members stated that the financial and business planning process is designed to enable Members to set the strategic direction of the Council, and for that direction to be reflected in the Corporate Plan, the budget, and business unit and individual staff plans. The process is designed to dovetail with the Corporate Plan, ensuring resources are most effectively focussed on the priorities set out in the plan. The nature of the process is particularly designed to support the priority of Better Services with less Money.

Severe resource constraint represented the most significant risk to the Council fulfilling its strategic objectives. The One Barnet programme potentially mitigated this risk, but needed to be taken forward in a timely fashion and integrated into the financial and business planning process.

The Council had recently taken steps to improve its risk management processes, in particular integrating the management of financial and other risks. Risk management information was reported quarterly to Cabinet Resources Committee, along with other performance management information, and would be reflected as appropriate in financial and business planning.

The outcome of Icelandic Bank litigation remained the single most important financial risk facing the Council. The current balance sheet assumed that the Council retained priority status as a creditor of the two banks through the wind-up process. Priority status, and other matters, would be considered by the Icelandic Courts in February and March 2011. Any decision was likely to be appealed, so there was likely to be a continued period of uncertainty. The most significant risk for the Council was that ultimately priority status would not be maintained leading to a much lower level of eventual recovery of funds. To mitigate the potential disruption to financial plans, the Council needed to set aside funds in the risk reserve accordingly. The additional potential cost was estimated at £14.1m, and this could crystallise in 2010/11 when the accounts were closed, or subsequently in accordance with events in the judicial process. The Council had applied for a capitalisation direction in 2010/11 to provide additional flexibility in dealing with the potential additional cost, but this had been declined by government. A key aim of financial strategy was therefore to set aside sufficient revenue funding in the risk reserve. Should this risk crystallise prior to sufficient funds being identified in the risk reserve, other reserves would need to be utilised and then replenished as a priority within the financial strategy.

The judgement in the Catalyst arbitration had resulted in a provision of £7.012m being set aside in the accounts for 2009/10. The Council had now received further direction on the detail of the settlement from the arbitrator, and also needed to consider liability for costs. Taking account of both these factors, it was necessary to set aside a further provision of £2m in 2010/11. This would be funded from the risk reserve.

The challenges set out the Cabinet Members' report would require fundamental change in the way Council services were delivered which in turn would impact on the human resources of the organisation and related policies and practices. Managing this process in conjunction with Trade Unions and staff was a key risk which would be mitigated through the people and culture workstream within the One Barnet programme.

In respect of the equalities and diversity implications of their budget proposals the Cabinet Members stated:

- The projected increase in the borough's population and changes in the demographic profile would be key factors that needed to be considered when determining both the corporate strategy and service responses. Both of these needed to also reflect the aspirations and contributions of current residents.
- All proposals emerging from the financial and business planning process had been fully considered in terms of equalities and diversity issues as set out in the Corporate Plan and as required by statute, including the requirements for consultation and equality impact assessments where necessary.

- Similarly, all human resources implications had been managed in accordance with the Council's Managing Organisational Change policy that supported the Council's Human Resources Strategy and met statutory equalities duties and current employment legislation.

Concerning resourcing issues generally the Cabinet Members' report was concerned with the Council's medium-term financial strategy and budget process. It recognised severe resource constraints and set a budget and medium term financial strategy that would maximise the Council's ability to pursue its strategic agenda through an extremely challenging period.

The Government had decided to discontinue the national performance management mechanism overseen by the Audit Commission. As part of this business planning process, the Council would therefore need to determine even more clearly its own strategic objectives and the metrics which could be used to measure success. Similarly, the demise of the Use of Resources assessment meant that the Council must ensure that the normal business planning cycle would deliver the strong governance and corporate capacity necessary to ensure that resources were utilised effectively.

The Cabinet members' report set out commentary on the legal issues associated with their report:

- All proposals emerging from the financial and business planning process had been considered in terms of legal implications for the Council and, where appropriate, mechanisms put into place to mitigate legal risks as far as possible.
- The Council was grappling with some immensely difficult, complex and competing choices. It was conceivable that some service users and or members of the community might not be agreeable to the proposals in the report. A challenge by way of judicial review could be mounted by any person, group of persons or body or group of bodies potentially adversely affected by a particular proposal. This could be brought at any stage of the decision making process on the grounds of illegality, irrationality and or impropriety. In order to successfully defend a challenge it was critical that proper decision making processes are followed, that where appropriate and necessary there was proper consultation and at all times the Council had due regard to its public law equality duties.
- An analysis of key risks had been undertaken for each budget saving. The main key legal risks for the process were as follows:
 - Legal risks around not fully or properly considering the impact upon groups with 'protected characteristics' as evidenced by equality impact assessments and potential challenge if these considerations were not fully and properly taken into account by Cabinet;
 - Statutory requirement to give 90 days notice, given that there were expected to be more than 99 redundancies; and

- Legal risks around statutory and legal duty to consult on individual budget options and with business rate payers.
- These risks had been mitigated as follows:
 - An equality impact assessment has been carried out for all savings proposals included in Appendix 3 to the Cabinet Members' report;
 - The statutory requirement to give 90 days notice for redundancies will have been complied with in advance of the 1st April, with consultation commencing on 3 December 2010;
 - Legal advice had been taken on all proposals that resulted in significant changes in services. This had resulted in detailed consultation being carried out across all budget options, and this was set out in more detail at Appendix 1 to the Cabinet Members' report; and
 - Consultation had been carried out with business rate payers.

Consultation

- As a matter of public law the duty to consult with regard to proposals to vary, reduce or withdraw services would arise in 3 circumstances:
 - Where there was a statutory requirement in the relevant legislative framework;
 - Where the practice had been to consult or where a policy document stated the Council would consult then the Council had to comply with its own practice or policy;
 - Exceptionally, where the matter was so important that the Council ought to consult whether or not there was a statutory duty to consult.
- Consultation had to be carried out fairly. In general, a consultation could only be considered as proper consultation if:
 - Comments were genuinely invited at the formative stage;
 - The consultation documents included sufficient reasons for the proposal to allow those being consulted to be properly informed and to give an informed response;
 - There was adequate time given to the consultees to consider the proposals; and
 - There was a mechanism for feeding back the comments and those comments were conscientiously taken into account by the decision maker / decision making body when making a final decision.
- Consultation proposals needed to demonstrate not only that the Council was approaching the proposals with an open mind, but also that it was mindful of the range of implications any proposal might have for those affected and that any decision was not pre-determined prior to the consultation and the response thereto being considered.
- The Council must take account of all relevant considerations, including importantly the duty to give due regard to the public law equalities duties and in particular any potential differential and/or adverse impact. The Council must also have regard to and weigh up all countervailing factors, including financial resources, which in the context of the function being exercised, it was proper and reasonable for the Council to consider.

- Having taken account of the relevant legal advice, Directors had confirmed that these considerations had been taken into account in the budget setting process in respect of the proposals affecting their services.

Equality duties

- The single public sector equality duty pursuant to the Equality Act 2010 was likely to come into force in April 2011. Until then, the Council had to have due regard to goals set out in existing discrimination legislation as follows:

Under s71 (1) of the Race Relations Act 1976

- (a) to eliminate unlawful racial discrimination; and
- (b) to promote equality of opportunity and good relations between persons of different racial groups.

Under s49A of the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 to:

- (a) the need to eliminate discrimination that is unlawful under this Act;
- (b) the need to eliminate harassment of disabled persons that is related to their disabilities;
- (c) the need to promote equality of opportunity between disabled persons and other persons;
- (d) the need to take steps to take account of disabled persons' disabilities, even where that involves treating disabled persons more favourably than other persons;
- (e) the need to promote positive attitudes towards disabled persons; and
- (f) the need to encourage participation by disabled persons in public life.

Under s76A of the Sex Discrimination Act 1975:

- (a) to eliminate unlawful discrimination and harassment, and
- (b) to promote equality of opportunity between men and women.

- The Cabinet Members' report drew attention specially to the Council's duties under section 49A (d) of the Disability Discrimination Act as this imposed a more positive obligation to consider whether disabled people should be treated more favourably. The Council had to identify the groups of people affected by any proposal and how they were affected by the proposals and in the case of disabled people the Council had to give due regard to treating them more favourably.
- 'Due regard' as required by legislation was more than 'regard'; it required more than simply giving consideration to the issue of disability, race or gender, the law required a rigorous and open minded approach. The public authority duty was to have 'due regard' and this was about the process of formulating policy and making decisions but must also be about substance rather than form. In considering the duties decision makers had to consider the alternatives and all the countervailing circumstances including where appropriate the budgetary requirements. In considering the Equality Impact Assessment, decision makers had to concentrate on the quality of the analysis in assessment when making their decision and not just the form of the document and its conclusions.

- The core provisions of the Equality Act 2010 had come into effect in October 2010. This Act provided a new cross-cutting legislative framework; to update, simplify and strengthen the previous discrimination legislation. The general duty on public bodies was set out in section 149 of the Act. Although this section was not yet in force it would be when the recommendations in the Cabinet Members' report were implemented if Cabinet decided to agree to those recommendations. Therefore the Council must have due regard to these new duties as set out below in relation to the new protected groups which were also set out:

(1) A public authority must, in the exercise of its functions, have due regard to the need to—

(a) eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct that is prohibited by or under this Act;

(b) advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it;

(c) foster good relations between persons who shared a relevant protected characteristic and persons who did not share it.

(2) Having due regard to the need to advance equality of opportunity between persons who shared a relevant protected characteristic and persons who did not share it involves having due regard, in particular, to the need to—

(a) remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are connected to that characteristic;

(b) take steps to meet the needs of persons who share a relevant protected characteristic that are different from the needs of persons who do not share it;

(c) encourage persons who share a relevant protected characteristic to participate in public life or in any other activity in which participation by such persons is disproportionately low.

(3) The steps involved in meeting the needs of disabled persons that were different from the needs of persons who were not disabled included, in particular, steps to take account of disabled persons' disabilities.

(4) Having due regard to the need to foster good relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it involves having due regard, in particular, to the need to -

(a) tackle prejudice, and

(b) promote understanding.

(5) Compliance with the duties in this section might involve treating some persons more favourably than others; but that was not to be taken as permitting conduct that would otherwise be prohibited by or under this Act.

(6) The relevant protected characteristics were—

- age;

- disability;
- gender reassignment;
- pregnancy and maternity;
- race;
- religion or belief;
- sex;
- sexual orientation.

It also covered marriage and civil partnership with regard to eliminating discrimination.

- There was also a statutory Code, namely The Duty to Promote Disability Equality: Statutory Code of Practice made by the Disability Rights Commission (now named Equality and Human Rights Commission, EHRC). The Code set out what public authorities needed to do to fulfil the general and specific duties. New Statutory Guidance would be issued shortly in relation to the new duties under s149 of the Equality Act 2010.
- There was also a non-statutory guidance issued by the EHRC on the general duty, including gathering and analysing evidence to inform action, on how public authorities assessed information and made decisions. The Equality and Human Rights Commission had published some non-statutory Guidance in relation to the new equality duty. It stated that the essence of the new duty remained the same, to have due regard to achieve the three general duty aims. It also stated, amongst other matters that public authorities should;
 - have an adequate evidence base for decision making and to consider what engagement needs to be undertaken with people who have an interest in tackling discrimination, advancing equality and fostering good relations
 - analyse the effect of a policy or practice on equality
- The Council was following this Code and taking the Guidance into consideration in formulating its proposals for consideration by Cabinet. The Guidance was attached at Appendix 6 of the Cabinet Members' report. The guidelines laid down by the Court in the case of R (Brown) v Secretary of State for Work and Pension which also gave decision makers some additional guidance when considering their equality duties were as follows:

First, those in the public authority who had to take decisions that do or might affect disabled people must be made aware of their duty to have "due regard" to the identified goals: Reference was made to, in a race relations context R(Watkins – Singh) v Governing Body of Aberdare Girls' High School [2008] EWHC 1865 at paragraph 114 per Silber J. Thus, an incomplete or erroneous appreciation of the duties would mean that "due regard had not been given to them: in a race relations case, the remarks of Moses LJ in R (Kaur and Shah) v London Borough of Ealing [2008] EWHC 2062 (Admin) at paragraph 45 were referred to.

Secondly, the “due regard” duty had to be fulfilled before and at the time that a particular policy that would or might affect disabled people was being considered by the public authority in question. It involved a conscious approach and state of mind.

Thirdly, the duty had to be exercised in substance, with rigour and with an open mind. The duty had to be integrated within the discharge of the public functions of the authority. However, the fact that the public authority had not mentioned specifically section 49A(1) in carrying out the particular function where it had to have “due regard” to the needs set out in the section was not determinative of whether the duty under the statute had been performed: as in the judgment of Dyson LJ in Baker at paragraph 36. But it was good practice for the policy or decision maker to make reference to the provision and any code or other non – statutory guidance in all cases where section 49A(1) was in play.

Fourthly, the duty imposed on public authorities that were subject to the section 49A(1) duty was a non – delegable duty. The duty would always remain on the public authority charged with it. In practice another body might actually carry out practical steps to fulfil a policy stated by a public authority that was charged with the section 49A(1) duty. In those circumstances the duty to have “due regard” to the needs identified would only be fulfilled by the relevant public authority if (1) it appointed a third party that was capable of fulfilling the “due regard” duty and was willing to do so; and (2) the public authority maintained a proper supervision over the third party to ensure it carried out its “due regard” duty. ...

Fifthly, (and obviously), the duty was a continuing one.

Sixthly, it was good practice for those exercising public functions in public authorities to keep an adequate record showing that they had actually considered their disability equality duties and pondered relevant questions. Proper record-keeping encouraged transparency and would discipline those carrying out the relevant function to undertake their disability equality duties conscientiously. If records were not kept it might make it more difficult, evidentially, for a public authority to persuade a court that it had fulfilled the duty imposed by section 49A(1) ...”

- It was the opinion of the lead officer for equalities and diversity that these requirements had been adhered to in formulating the budget proposals included in the Cabinet Members’ report.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Strategy

Cabinet on 21 June 2010 had considered the strategic policy context for the financial and business planning process. This had set the scene for the process that had been running since that point. The strategic policy context paid particular attention to:

- The population increase in Barnet (making Barnet the most populous London Borough);

- The nature of the population change, particularly the young (under 5) and older people (over 85);
- Opportunities around technological change to deliver services in new ways; and
- Changing roles and expectations for public services and local government

The planning process for budgets and services plans was paying particular regard to these issues. Overall, the Council's response to these challenges was defined by the One Barnet programme, the framework for which was summarised below.

One Barnet programme

In 2008, the Council had identified three key drivers for change which had informed the Future Shape programme:

1. The need to find new ways to tackle challenging problems; for instance refuse services as currently constituted could not tackle the most challenging waste problem facing the Council – how to significantly reduce the amount of waste going into landfill.
2. The financial context; anticipating that financial pressures resulting from the global recession would bring the era of consistently increasing public sector budgets to an end.
3. Resident satisfaction - despite consistent improvements in service delivery, satisfaction with Barnet Council, as with other local authorities, has been on a downward trend

In 2010, the drivers for change still resembled those identified in 2008, and it was these drivers that informed the One Barnet programme. Specifically:

1. the Council still needed to find new ways to tackle challenging problems.
2. the Council now had greater certainty about the scale of the financial challenge. Within the Council there was a funding gap of £46.6m over the next three years, and the Council's public sector partners faced challenges of a similar scale. There were other known pressures which would require the Council to make savings of £53.4m.
3. Digital technology continued to change and develop, as did the ways that people used it to change and grow. Residents would continue to expect the Council to deliver against those standards of instant information and access to services.

In addition:

- The identification of the need to develop a new partnership with residents to deliver services in future was echoed by the Coalition Government's focus on a Big Society;
- The Government's focus on localism and devolution set a national context for the Council's aim to provide local leadership and joined up services across the public sector;

The response to the drivers identified had been, and remained, to create a citizen-centred council to ensure that citizens got the services they needed to lead successful lives, and to ensure that Barnet was a successful place. The Cabinet Members continued to believe that this was best delivered through the adoption of the three key principles of the programme.

1. A new relationship with citizens

- Enabling residents to access information and support and to do more for themselves

2. A one public sector approach

- Working together in a more joined up way with our public sector partners to deliver better services

3. A relentless drive for efficiency

- Delivering more choice for better value

A new relationship with citizens meant that working together in a different way. The Council would provide a better service, putting citizens at the heart of what it did. In return the Council would expect that they would do what they could for themselves, their families and their community.

The Council would provide information and services in ways that were convenient and which provided choice. Citizens would be responsible for taking the opportunities that were offered and the Council would give them the information they needed to hold it to account.

What the Council will do for residents:

- Enable choice and control;
- Provide clear information; and
- Tailor services for residents.

What residents will do with the Council:

- Make best use of opportunities;
- Do all they can to support themselves, families, community; and
- Hold the Council accountable.

A One Public Sector approach was fundamental to One Barnet. Democratic accountability remained at the heart of serving residents successfully. The Council would work with partners to create truly joined up services, with the citizens at their heart. Specifically, the Council were currently in discussions with partners around placed based budgeting (Barnet had been announced as a Community Budget area in the recent Spending Review), where they would increasingly pool resources and deliver residents aspirations together.

A relentless drive for efficiency meant that the Council would make sure every pound was spent as effectively as possible, which might mean providing services in different ways and certainly meant organising the Council in a different way. It also meant recognising that residents' time is valuable and that the Council should make sure that when they wanted to do something, the process was clear, simple and efficient. To deliver a relentless driver for efficiency, key questions were being asked of all services:

- Were they still necessary?
- Were they giving the customers what they needed?
- Who was best placed to manage and run them?

The budget proposals in the Cabinet Members' report had been formulated with these principles in mind, and would continue to be driven by these principles over the course of the medium term financial strategy.

Proposals had been developed by taking savings from each department across the organisation, with a series of strategic options being put forward for consultation in October, and detailed budget headlines for consultation in December. It was the decision of elected members as to how these savings would be realised across departments, taking into account the Council's policy framework.

Consultation

A full report on the consultation that had taken place on the budget was provided in Appendix 1 to the Cabinet members' report.

The Council had been discussing budget proposals with residents since September last year. The outcome of initial consultation had gone to the Cabinet meeting on 13 December 2010. This initial consultation had shown that the public had understood the need for the Council to reduce spending to match a reduced income but were concerned about the impact of a reduction on the voluntary sector. Adult Social Services had revised its budget plans following this consultation.

Since Budget proposals had been published, services had run a range of consultations. Many of the responses to the more recent round of consultation had been from service users, understandably keen to protect spending on the services they used. The areas that had attracted responses beyond service users were plans for the two council supported museums in the borough and the removal of core grant for the artsdepot. Children's Social Services had confirmed that it planned to continue funding activities at the artsdepot, and the Council was working with the centre to identify other funding streams. Two proposals had been put forward to independently operate Barnet Museum and Church Farm Museum. While the Council would continue with the current budget plan, it would consider these proposals over a three month period with a view to establishing whether they support the long term viability of the museums.

Concern had also been expressed by CommUnity Barnet that some smaller voluntary organisations risked closure given the scale of reduction facing some organisations. Adult Social Services had committed to working with the sector to mitigate this risk.

Medium Term Financial Strategy

The Medium Term Financial Strategy (MTFS) was the framework within which the budget was set. It assessed the spending review and the impact of the local government finance settlement, and set this against any other changes that were needed to Council budgets (for example for inflation or changes in statutory responsibilities).

Update on 2010/11 position

The latest position on budget monitoring for 2010/11 would be reported to Cabinet Resources Committee in March. Early indications from quarter three monitoring suggested that a net overspend position of approximately £0.8m would be reported: an improvement on the £3.4m reported in quarter two. Current general fund balances were £15.8m, so this projected outturn position would ensure that balances did not fall beneath the target level of £15m. It was essential that services continued to identify all necessary actions to deliver a balanced budget position for 2010/11.

Spending Review

The government's Spending Review had been announced on 20 October 2010. The headlines for local government were:

- A 39% cut in current Formula Grant over four years, heavily front-loaded to years one and two;
- The ending of ringfencing for local authority grant, with the exception of funding for schools and public health;
- The inclusion of a number of current area-based and specific grants within Formula Grant or schools grant;
- 'Additional' funding for social care and to enable a council tax freeze in 2011/12; and
- The creation of a number of 'core revenue grants' to distribute non-ringfenced funding outside the Formula Grant distribution formula.

The overall effect of the above was a 26% cut in overall government support to local government over four years (that is, covering current Formula Grant, new Formula Grant and core revenue grants).

Local Government Finance Settlement

The Local Government Finance settlement had been announced on 13 December 2010 (for consultation) and the final settlement announced on 31 January 2011. The key points were as follows.

Barnet Council impact	2011/12 Cash cut %	2012/13 Cash cut %
Formula Grant	11	9
Total Grant funding	10	6

- A "New world" of grant support – only the schools grant was now ring-fenced, everything else was core grant;
- Early Intervention Grant, Learning Disabilities Grant, Homelessness Grant, Housing Benefits and Council Tax Benefits Admin Grant and PFI Grant were the core grants outside Formula Grant;
- New Homes Bonus would be additional funding (also not ringfenced), but had not yet been announced; and
- The settlement was for two years – so excluded 2013/14 – whereas our budget is for three years. This meant making assumptions about levels of government funding in 2013/14.

When compared to the estimates and assumptions included in the budget headlines report (which had been compiled before the outcome of the local government settlement was known), it had the following impact.

	£m	£m
Formula Grant	+ £1m	- £1.4m
Additional Area Based Grant we had assumed was cut	+ £1.7m	0
Net effect on LB Barnet Medium Term Financial Strategy	+ £2.7m	- £1.4m

This meant that the proposals included in the budget headlines report were sufficient to enable the Council to set a balanced budget.

The figures included in the local government finance settlement were as follows (these figures were reflected in the budget model in Appendix 2 of the Cabinet Members' report):

Grant Elements	2010/11 (adj)	2011/12	2012/13

Barnet contributed to the cost of the grant floors as it was above the minimum grant increase for 2011/12. Barnet had contributed £4.3m in 2011/12 and £3.2m in 2012/13.

Removal of ring-fencing

A key strategic issue was the removal of ringfencing for all support to local government with the exception of schools funding. This meant that the Council was able to plan its own budgets within the total of support available. This was a welcome development and enabled the Council to apply local priorities, but it did mean that expectations for specific programmes created by the government's detailed announcements would not necessarily be deliverable in practice.

This was particularly relevant around funding for Adult Social Care, where funding announcements suggested additional support in this area. However, formula grant had been reduced by nearly 40% to compensate for this, meaning the overall loss of funding was still 26%. It was up to local policy makers to decide how to allocate this funding, but if additional support is provided to Adults Social Care, that means larger cuts to other budget areas than are currently being proposed.

The Spending Review included within the overall reduced totals a core revenue grant to enable the council tax freeze in 2011/12. Under the scheme, Councils which set a 0% increase in 2011/12 would receive grant to the equivalent of a 2.5% increase in 2011/12. It was therefore necessary to set a 0% increase in 2011/12 to protect the Council's underlying revenue support from government.

Despite the overall reduction in funding as a result of the Spending Review, there were some opportunities for future funding. It was possible that Barnet could benefit from the New Homes Bonus, which would enable councils to retain funding as a result of growth in new homes. However, it was important to note that this was not additional funding nationally; it would be top sliced from existing budgets.

Social Care funding of £1bn had been allocated to the NHS to help better joint commissioning of services in respect of social care. This equated to £3.9m for Barnet and the Council was working with health partners to identify how this funding should be allocated. A report would come back to Cabinet in the next two months setting out detailed proposals for allocating this funding.

Schools funding

The review of the methodology of distributing the Dedicated Schools Grant (DSG) by the Department for Education (DfE) had been put back a year, so for 2011/12 the DSG continued to be distributed using the 'spend plus' methodology with a number of modifications. In the longer term the Government's intention was to bring in a simpler and more transparent funding system. This should reduce funding differences between similar schools in different areas but might result in significant turbulence unless transitional arrangements were put in place. The government proposals for the new distribution system were expected in late spring.

The estimated Dedicated Schools Grant for Barnet was £248,955,910. This figure was subject to change dependent on pupil numbers and would not be confirmed by the DfE until June. The modifications made in 2011/12 included the introduction of the pupil premium (which would target funding at children from deprived backgrounds, children in care and children of service families), the mainstreaming of specific grants for schools into the DSG and provision of funding for the extension of early years entitlement to 15 hours for three and four years old. The per pupil funding for the DSG was maintained in cash terms whilst the minimum funding guarantee would be set to ensure no school had a cut in its budget of more than 1.5% per pupil. The central expenditure limit (CEL) continued to be applied to prevent centrally retained budgets rising at a higher rate than the devolved budgets to schools unless the Schools Forum approved the breach. Approval had been given by the Schools Forum in Barnet to breach the CEL in 2011/12 due to the methodology of mainstreaming the specific grants referred to above.

The DfE had also confirmed that the recoupment methodology for adjusting DSG allocations for converting academies would continue in 2011/12. This meant that finalised DSG allocations in June would incorporate adjustments for schools that had converted to academy status during 2010-11 (three schools) and that the DSG would continue to be adjusted during the year for schools that converted during 2011-12. The financial impact of the conversions on the centrally retained budgets would be considered in setting the final Schools Budget in July. The government had made a reduction in the formula grant for the estimated costs for new academies and free schools for local authority central support expenditure outside of the DSG for new academies and free schools. Because it was not possible to say precisely which schools in which local authorities would convert to academy status and where all new Academies and Free Schools would be, the government had stated it was not practical to target the reductions at individual local authorities and therefore a national top slice had been applied. The reduction in the formula grant for Barnet was £913,943. In the longer term, the government intended to develop a simpler and more transparent funding system for academies and the proposals were expected to be issued in late spring.

Budget now grossed up

Given the removal of ringfencing for all grants, with the exception of the schools grant, this meant that the presentation of the Council's budget for 2011/12 had been updated to reflect this. Previously, all specific grants had been included in the Council's budget as net £nil, because the expenditure budgets matched the grant income coming in for that specific purpose. Now, due to the removal of the ringfencing of all grants with the exception of the schools grant, the Council's budget was presented as gross expenditure, all financed from the core revenue grants.

Summary of all corporate changes

9.4.20 The Council's financial model that underpinned the Medium Term Financial Strategy was included in Appendix 2 to the Cabinet Members' report. The corporate assumptions that had been applied to this model were as follows:

- Pay inflation – the model assumed 0% pay inflation for 2011/12 and 2012/13, and 2.5% for 2013/14. It also assumed a flat £250 increase in 2011/12 and 2012/13 for employees earning under £21,000 per annum;
- Non pay inflation – a provision of 2.5% for non-pay inflation of 2.5% had been assumed for 2011/12, 2012/13 and 2013/14;
- There was no increase in the employers pension contribution rate following the draft actuarial report which had been considered and agreed by the Pension Fund Committee on 21 December 2010;
- Budget increases would be necessary to fund the costs of the North London Waste Authority levy in future years, totalling £0.3m, £2.7m and £1.0m respectively over the next three years;
- Capital financing costs - £1.5m, £2.25m and £2.25m had been added to the budget in the next three years to fund existing borrowing commitments of the capital programme. It was important to note that the borrowing requirement had not increased; this provision funded existing commitments;
- Statutory changes to the way concessionary fares were funded required an increase in this budget of £3.2m, £0.4m and £0.4m over the next three years;
- Statutory changes to funding of housing benefits required additional budget of £1.5m over the next three years;

- The saving made in 2011/12 in respect of the removal of the 50% discount for long term empty properties would only run for two years, and was therefore reversed out in 2013/14;
- A reduction in the costs of redundancy and restructure of £2m was realised in 2011/12, as most of these costs will be incurred before the 2010/11 year end;
- Changes to the way that the government would run the Carbon Reduction Commitment would cost the Council an estimated additional £0.5m from 2011/12 onwards;
- The funding of the Commercial department from 2011/12 onwards required a budget increase of £0.9m;
- The Big Society fund required a budget increase of £0.2m;
- Additional provision of £0.9m in 2012/13 and £3.1m in 2013/14 for contingency, particularly given that the settlement had not been announced for 2013/14;
- Additional savings coming from the replacement of the local tax and benefit system that would be realised in future years and were recognised in the financial model, totalling £0.9m over three years;
- £65k net adjustment for the One Barnet programme financing
- One off contributions to reserves in 2010/11 of £2.5m were reversed in 2011/12 to provide a one off benefit
- An additional £4.5m was required in specific reserves in 2011/12 to fund costs associated with Iceland litigation and future phases of innovation and efficiency projects.

The above section of the Cabinet Members' report set out all of the assumptions made in the budget model for 2011/12 onwards. The changes applied to the budget model since the Cabinet report on 13 December 2010 were as follows:

	2011/12 £m	2012/13 £m	2013/14 £m	Total £m

The detailed financial model that underpinning the Council's budget was included at Appendix 2 to the Cabinet Members' report. The overall position for Member decision was summarised as follows:

Savings

Given the unprecedented reductions to local government funding set out above, the Council had had a considerable challenge in developing savings to enable a balanced budget position to be set. Savings totalling £53.4m are included in Appendix 3 to the Cabinet Members' report. They were broken down as follows:

Service	Savings
Adult Social Services	(17,461)
Chief Executive's Service	(3,623)
Children's Service	(12,041)
Commercial Services	(4,093)
Corporate Governance	(1,025)
Deputy Chief Executive	(2,253)
Environment & Operations excluding Special Parking Account	(8,267)
Special Parking Account	(3,233)
Planning, Housing & Regeneration	(1,430)
SERVICE TOTAL	(53,426)

Cabinet were asked to recommend the savings set out in Appendix 3 to the Cabinet Members' report for approval by Council.

Pressures

Budget pressures for agreement totalled £6.8m and were included in Appendix 4.to the Cabinet Members' report. They were in respect of the following:

Service	Pressures
	£'000
Adult Social Services	2,400
Children's Services	2,350
Commercial Services	500
Special Parking Account	1,000
Corporate Governance	150
Planning, Housing & Regeneration	400
SERVICE TOTAL	6,800

Cabinet were asked to recommend the pressures set out in Appendix 4 to the Cabinet Members' report for approval by Council.

Balanced position

As a result of the budget proposals set out above, the Council had a balanced budget position for the period 2011/12 to 2013/14. This was based on actual funding announcements for the first two years of this period, and assumptions about funding levels in 2013/14.

Strategic narrative for each service

Savings and pressures were incorporated into a medium term financial strategy for each service (Appendix 5 to the Cabinet Members' report). This section summarises the principles that underpin these strategies.

Adults Services

Adults' services had developed a number of budget proposals based on its underpinning principles of fairness and need. Savings had been identified around four key areas:

1. Being as efficient as possible – One Barnet; streamlining the workforce; improving outcomes and reducing duplication through partnerships with health; and effective and targeted procurement
2. Securing additional income through new contributions policy
3. Reducing Provider Spend through inflation containment and targeted reductions to move to industry benchmarks in order to develop a sustainable care market
4. Targeting services to those most in need through reducing universal and low level support services (voluntary sector, supporting people reductions) with an expectation that families and communities provide more lower level support in respect of social participation and leisure in partnership with Adult Social Care.

Children's Services

The delivery of Children's services savings had been based on the following principles:

1. Focus on early identification and prevention
 - Invest to save – investing in family support to reduce use of high cost acute and specialist services; and
 - Reshape and reduce services for children and young people – youth and connexions, youth justice and education welfare and children's centres
2. A new relationship with schools
 - Reshaping and reducing school improvement and support
3. Specific grants
 - Cease and reduce services in response to reduction in specific grants
4. Respond to increased demand for children's social care
 - In the short term, shift resources to respond to the sustained increased demand for front line child protection services

Environment and Operations

The delivery of savings in Environment and Operations had been developed around the following principles:

1. Sharing responsibilities with partners
 - Driving more from existing contracts – leisure, recycling
2. A different relationship with citizens
 - Reducing 'one size fits all' publicity
 - Giving people more control over service provision (e.g. allowing more events in parks)
 - Allotments to be run by the people who use them
 - Changes to the way recycling and waste services are run
 - Reconfiguring the parking service
3. Driving out savings without just cutting staff
 - Contractual overtime, consolidation, focussing on long-term sickness, reducing temporary staff and different working arrangements.
4. Alternative delivery for services
 - Transport and Parking Service
 - Part of the Development and Regulatory Services One Barnet project is in respect of E&O services.

Planning, Housing and Regeneration

The delivery of savings in Planning, Housing and Regeneration has been developed around the following principles:

1. One Barnet

- Development and regulatory services project (years two and three)
- 2. Systems Thinking (Lean & efficiencies) savings (year one)
 - Management de-layering
 - Planning and regulatory services restructure
 - Business management support reduction
 - Lean housing review
- 3. Income growth & charges
 - Private sector leasing - rental income
 - Charging
- 4. Exploiting opportunities
 - New Homes Bonus
 - Tax incremental financing schemes & Business Rates
 - Community Infrastructure Levy
 - Devolved Planning/Building Control fees

Corporate services and support services

The delivery of savings in Corporate and support services areas have been developed around the following principles:

1. New service delivery models for back office and customer services from 2012
 - Revenues and Benefits, Customer services, Human Resources, IT, Finance, Legal, Asset management/property
2. Other efficiency measures
 - Better procurement, cashless organisation, vendor rationalisation
 - Benefits of flexible working, improved asset utilisation
 - Improved asset utilisation (reduced use of Barnet House and North London Business Park)
 - Further consolidation of office space and flexible ways of working
 - Better contract management
3. Better targeting of expenditure against need
 - Majority of savings through reducing grants budget by better targeting against need
 - Library service review

Performance and equalities impact assessment

Performance impact

Given the scale of the budget reductions that were needed as a result of the Spending Review, careful consideration needed to be given to the impact of budgetary decisions. Appendix 3 to the Cabinet Members' report categorised savings proposals into service reductions, proposals to increase income and proposals to increase efficiency. From the perspective of the budget strategy, the Council was committed to ensuring as much savings as possible came from efficiency measures rather than cuts to services.

One Barnet projects and efficiency measures accounted for a total of 65% of the total savings included in the report.

However, as not all savings would come from improved efficiency, savings would need to be approved that would have an impact on the performance of services provided to residents. Service reductions had been targeted to minimise the impact on service delivery. This section of the Cabinet Members' report set out the potential impact on performance and corporate priorities. The Council had agreed the following three corporate priorities for 2010-13:

“Better services with less money - We have a responsibility to make the most of the taxpayers money we are given. So, we are committed to making sure residents know they are receiving better services with less money. Our One Barnet programme is about delivering better outcomes more effectively, efficiently, equitably and economically to leave our customers feeling more satisfied;

Sharing opportunities and sharing responsibilities - We know that many of our residents want to be part of both sharing opportunities and sharing responsibilities. We recognise that some residents need more support than others and we will work with these residents to put them on the pathway to success; and

A successful London suburb - We will continue to enable the borough to grow sustainably by supporting prosperity whilst preserving and enhancing the physical environment. We will continue to support excellence in our schools and centres of learning. Working with the police and NHS Barnet, we will make sure Barnet remains a safe and healthy place to live, work and study.”

Beneath these priorities was a series of key performance indicators included in the Corporate Plan. In putting together budget proposals, an analysis of the impact on these indicators had been carried out. The key performance risks were as follows:

- Adults Social Services – a range of proposals had been developed across services in this area. The key risks were around the delivery to people receiving self directed support and people receiving intermediate care or rehabilitation. The reduction in third sector funding might impact on our ability to increase the number of volunteers engaged in care related work (however, this reduction in funding had been reduced following initial consultation). The corporate plan also stated that expenditure would be moved to funding prevention models where it was known that there was a clear cost benefit, and there were proposals to reduce this investment. Overall, these effects should be mitigated to an extent by additional funding for social care coming through the NHS.
- Children's Services – a key priority in the Corporate Plan was around maintaining the high quality of schools in Barnet, and ensuring that disadvantaged groups such as children in care were able to share in the educational success enjoyed by Barnet pupils. Reductions in the school improvement service and the children's social care service could impact adversely on these priorities. Additional funding had been added to the social care budget, but this was in response to increases in demand, so might not fully mitigate against savings in other areas. The proposed cuts to adoption allowances and specialist social work might reduce adoptions and increase the numbers of children in the council's care, which were also subject to Corporate Plan improvement targets. The proposed reductions in youth services, which promoted positive activities for young people including education, employment and training, might have an adverse impact on indicators such as school attendance, youth offending and youth unemployment, as well as the Corporate Plan educational attainment targets. There could be an impact on performance as a result of the changes to the way that Children's Centres would be delivered, but at this stage this was dependent on the options for the future of the service that were agreed following consultation with service users.

- Environment and Operations – there could be a positive impact on performance as a result of changes to waste collection in respect of recycling rates. Reductions in the budget for road maintenance were likely to have an adverse impact on the priority of investing in this area.
- Planning, Housing and Regeneration – there was not expected to be any adverse impact on performance on the key priorities - affordable family housing and homelessness - resulting from the budget proposals
- Chief Executive, Corporate Services, Finance, Commercial – most of the proposals in these areas were about the re-organisation and improved efficiency of back office functions which should not impact on the delivery of frontline services. However, there were risks to corporate priorities here, specifically around ensuring that the performance around customer contact and responsiveness improves whilst this service was re-modelled. There would also be a reduction in grant-funded services which have a preventive function, and this impact was being monitored carefully across the organisation.

Equality impact

Every budget saving included in the report had been subject to an Equality Impact Assessment. Assessments had been made with an understanding of the 'protected characteristics' as set out in the Equality Act 2010. Cabinet needed to be aware that there was likely to be a cumulative impact on some of the protected groups as a result of the budget proposals.

Elderly and disabled adults in receipt of services from Adult Social Care might also be affected by the reduction in the grants allocated to some voluntary sector organisations. However; mitigating actions were in place to ensure that those with eligible needs would be properly assessed. These reductions might also impact on specific ethnic groups who were also disabled or elderly who had their own specialist support provision, though there is likely to already be some duplication of service which would be reduced by more focussed commissioning. Potentially, some women who were also carers of elderly or disabled children and other family members might be affected by reductions in the adult social services budget and the children's budget. The procurement of services from specialist providers amongst residential care providers for specific communities; and the additional responsibilities placed on carers who might also have a 'protected characteristic'. Within Children's Service the reduction of universal services might disproportionately impact upon children and young people who might also have a range of disabilities. The proposal to remodel specialist services such as 'Behavioural and high incidence support' to provide a 'team around the setting' was expected to provide improved targeting to those most in need.

The reduction in the grants scheme with its focus on community arts and community advice service was expected to have a negative impact across some protected groups.

A review would take place in six months time of the equality impact of savings proposals.

Appendix 3 to the Cabinet Members' report (savings) included a column for a summary of the equality impact assessment for each proposal. The full equality impact assessments had been included in Appendix 12 to the report where significant changes to service delivery were proposed. The assessments for Children's Centres, Sheltered Housing and Fairer Charging had been appended to the separate reports included on the Cabinet agenda for this meeting.

The key outcomes of equality impact assessments on the budget proposals were as follows:

Adults Social Care

The Adult Social Services savings proposals were based on principles of fairness and need with resources directed to those who needed it most and ensuring that safeguarding vulnerable people remained a priority. Eligibility for social care services would be unchanged remaining at the substantial and critical levels following consideration by Cabinet Members. Savings proposals in Adults had maximised opportunities to be as efficient as possible around One Barnet, workforce changes, running costs, partnerships with health, the voluntary sector, procurement and reviewing care packages. There might be some negative impacts from reduced voluntary sector provision. However, individuals would continue to have assessments of need and eligible needs would be addressed through personal budgets.

The following analysis highlighted the equality data in respect of clients of Barnet adults social care services.

In House Services - The More Choices Project would change the way people receive Adult Social Services to enable service users to have more choice and control over their own support. This was part of the national Personalisation Agenda and therefore all councils were making these changes to ensure people could get the social care support that best met their needs. A number of service users would be affected by the change. However, they and their families were involved in consultation about the changes. The service would continue to be commissioned by social services. Service users would have more say in the running of the services which could be of benefit.

Partnership with Health - The savings initiatives identified in the proposals should lead to a more integrated approach between health and social care and some of these would be financed through the NHS monies being passed to the Council to meet social care needs. There could be some negative impact initially of the reductions in staff but this would be mitigated by developing more joined up approaches which should be of benefit.

Transport - The One Barnet Transport proposal involved integrating transport for older people day care with special needs transport for children. This did mean that opening hours would change for day care affecting service users and staff. This had been consulted on but the imperative to make efficiencies had been overriding as transport would still be available.

Reducing provider spend - No differential impact amongst client groups as the threshold was the statutory Fair Access to Care Services. There were a number of specialist providers amongst the residential care providers for specific communities and they would be included in the same discussions as generic providers. Specialism took the form of religious or condition-specific or disability needs and had sometimes attracted a premium in respect of cost. This would be addressed by individual meetings with providers and person-centred re-assessments for clients, on the basis of need and ensuring that eligible needs were responded to.

Reducing the costs of care packages through increasing the contribution that families and communities make – A Council priority was Sharing Opportunities and Sharing Responsibilities. There was anticipation that the greater involvement of someone's family and community in meeting their social care needs could be an effective way of building social inclusion. A beneficial cycle had been found to be created when this use of 'social capital' was promoted. Initially, the individual was increasingly involved in society through the support of others. This then made it easier for the individual to become an active member of communities, contributing to their overall robustness. There could be a negative impact on families and carers had expressed concern that this policy would put more pressure on them. However, needs of carers would be taken into account through assessments. In addition advice and information and support to carers remained a strategic priority.

Voluntary Sector - A Prevention Framework had been agreed by Cabinet Resources Committee. Investment in the Voluntary sector focussed on preventive services which were discretionary and statutory intervention funded from budgets from which the savings proposals were minimal. A policy which would refocus voluntary sector investment on key areas would help minimise duplication and allow investment to cover groups of service users who currently did not receive services. Changes in investment could impact negatively on some people but people with eligible needs would have access to assessments and provision of services.

Review of care packages – there could be a negative impact on service users as a result of re-assessments and any consequent reductions in personal budget allocations. However, the Council would continue to meet the needs of all sections of the community with high level or complex needs with due regard to cultural and religious and other diverse needs. Reviews would be completed on an individual basis where eligible needs would be addressed with due regard to needs arising from disability.

Workforce Reductions - None of these proposals were targeted at services which supported people from specific ethnic, religious, sex or gender groups. Consequently, no differential impact had been identified in relation to those dimensions of equality. All of these proposals could have a greater impact on people who use, or whose relatives use, social care services. Consequently, they could have a greater impact on the elderly and the disabled.

Reductions of social care staff were factored in when the new care model was set up as pump priming. A Lean programme to look at efficiencies in business processes had been initiated to maximise the use of internal resources. Also a review had been conducted of how social care staff were deployed in mental health which resulted in the proposal to reduce mental health social work capacity. Agreement was being finalised with the Mental Health Trust which would strengthen the delivery of social care support to people with mental health problems.

Adults Social Care retendering - No expected equality impacts of proposals. The re-tenders sought to maintain services that supported all sections of the community who were assessed as requiring a service.

Children's Services

The following savings proposals had the most significant impact on service delivery, and the equality impact was considered as below:

Youth offer - The proposal might have a negative equalities impact. Vulnerable young people already experiencing some form of disadvantage, such as those at risk of exclusion or young offenders, might be disproportionately affected by a reduced universal service as they were likely to have higher support needs. However, services would be targeted at those most in need of support, including those young people at risk, as well as those already with more complex needs.

Teenagers with lower support needs might be disproportionately impacted by the reduction in universal services. The needs of these service users had been taken into account in designing the new youth offer which will encourage and support other community and local providers to grow the range of activities available to young people. The Council would also work closely with the voluntary sector and other key partners to ensure that the potential of existing facilities for youth provision, both those owned by LBB and others in all areas of the borough, was maximised so as many young people as possible could continue to access services.

The proposed changes to services and the rationale behind them had been clearly communicated to stakeholders. Ongoing communication about how the proposed changes might impact on service users would take place to help minimise any perceptions about differential treatment.

Behavioural and high incidence support - The proposal to reduce behaviour support might have a negative equalities impact. Vulnerable young people already experiencing some form of disadvantage might be disproportionately affected as they were more likely to be service users. Children with special educational needs relating to emotional, social, language and behavioural difficulties and males particularly from black African and Caribbean backgrounds might be impacted as they were potentially more at risk of exclusion.

Re-modelling of services to provide a 'team around the setting' should help to provide some behavioural and emotional targeted support for children and young people to prevent exclusion. Further embedding the Common Assessment Framework process as a way of providing co-ordinated support to children and young people should also help to mitigate against the proposed reduction. Remaining services would be targeted towards those with the highest level of need in order to help reduce inequalities, and a Service Level Agreement regarding services to be delivered by the reduced team would be developed. In addition, the Educational Psychology team would shift its balance of work to provide more behaviour and SEN provision support; and schools would be asked whether they would like to purchase additional support around behavioural support as part of a traded service model.

New relationship with schools - The impact on pupils and their educational outcomes as a result of the new national and local school improvement arrangements were not yet known. It was anticipated that there could be a positive equalities impact on schools and pupils, although this would be dependent on the funding available to schools and what level of support they were able to purchase.

Schools would be able to purchase support to meet the needs of all pupils and, in line with feedback, a Local Authority school improvement traded service would be provided for primary schools. The residual Local Authority monitoring and challenge team would ensure that both primary and secondary schools were identifying the areas in which they needed to improve and would act as an early warning system should inequalities appear to be occurring.

Environment and operations

The following savings proposals had the most significant impact on service delivery, and the equality impact was considered as below:

Allotments – none of the specific equality strands had been identified as being exclusively or specifically affected by the allotment fees increase when compared to the impact on allotment holders as a user group. The detailed EIA however identified people on lower incomes as a group potentially impacted by the proposals. It would not be possible to mitigate the effect of any such increase on those on lower incomes without carrying out complicated means testing investigations to identify differing levels of income.

Parking charges - it was not anticipated that the proposed changes would adversely affect any specific equality strand grouping in a unique or exclusive manner nor discriminate against any. It was therefore anticipated that this service change would in fact affect all the identified groups equally. However, the nature of these proposals meant it was likely to have a more significant impact on residents with lower incomes.

Overall, the proposed changes had an equal effect on all the service users/customers identified but the impact on specific individuals might be higher depending on the income levels of different residents and therefore there were no mitigating actions for the council to take in order to reduce this disparity.

A significant number of the residents who had contacted the council on these proposals expressed an objection to the proposed increase to the cost of resident permits, visitor vouchers and the removal of free bays. The vast majority felt that this rate of increase was unjustified and would also impact adversely on the welfare of the economically challenged.

Chief Executive's and Customer Services

The following savings proposals had the most significant impact on service delivery, and the equality impact was considered as below:

Reductions in the grants scheme – In the case of the community arts service and community advice service there would be a negative impact across several protected groups as set out in the EIAs. This was principally the direct result of reductions in the number of people that would be able to access the services once the budgets were reduced. There would be a disproportionate effect on people with protected characteristics because there was a high correlation between these and the groups the services were designed to serve.

The principal mitigation was to ensure future provision was focussed more closely on those who needed it most, both geographically and in terms of which residents were targeted. In the case of community arts, this would mean ensuring 100% of grant funding was spent on assisting older people, disabled people and people with mental health problems. With community advice, the Council would focus primarily on welfare benefits and debt advice and require the contractor to act proactively to find people who needed the service most. Both services would be better targeted in the geographical sense. However, these measures might not completely mitigate against the impacts.

Any equalities impacts of withdrawing core funding for the artsdepot would only impact if the artsdepot as a consequence changed or scaled down its programme or was unable to continue to trade. The potential impacts were not clear cut, but any impact on the artsdepot's programme would impact on those with protected characteristics as well as other users, but the Council did not have any evidence that there would be a greater impact on the former than the latter. Consultation responses suggested that some mitigation of any impacts could be achieved by seeking to retain the arts depot as a community hub. The Council had decided to continue its contract with artsdepot for a programme for children and young people as part of its youth offer, but another provider would have to be found if artsdepot were unable to continue providing it.

The equalities impact of rolling the Council's small grants funding into the Big Society Innovation Fund should be minimal in 2011/12 as fluctuations in other funds the Council administered would result in broadly the same amount of funds being available for small grants as had been available this year.

The Council recognised that the cumulative effect of the range of budget proposals could impact disproportionately on Barnet's voluntary and community sector.

Museums – the decision to withdraw funding from museums would result in cessation of Church Farmhouse Museum (pending review of future options); and withdrawing Barnet Museum grant. Evidence from the museums suggested that there would be an expected impact on school-aged children (class visits), reduced infrastructure used by adults and older adults for pleasure and leisure, and reduced infrastructure used by families, individuals, and local history and interest groups. However, analysis of national and local customer information suggested that this proposal was not expected to have a disproportionate impact on any group covered by equalities legislation.

Consultation had taken place on budget options both at a Council wide level, and at a service level on detailed options, to ensure that the impact of proposals had been fully explored with service users. This was an important part of ensuring the assessment of the equality impact had been considered properly. This was set out in Appendix 1 to the Cabinet Members' report.

Staffing implications and associated costs

The budget savings set out in the Cabinet Members' report at Appendix 3 had a number of implications in terms of staffing:

Redundancy Consultation Process

Statutory 90 day consultation had commenced on 3rd December 2010 and would close in March 2011. The full consultation document could be found on the Council's intranet. The consultation process would consist of collective consultation with the Trade Unions and individual consultation with staff at risk of redundancy. The total number of staff at risk was estimated at approximately 800. Consultation was concerned with:

- Avoiding the dismissals;
- Reducing the numbers to be dismissed; and
- Mitigating the consequences of the dismissal.

Where there were restructures required to deliver these savings then consultation would also take place on these changes during the 90 day period so that the restructures could be implemented by 31 March to ensure that full in year savings were achieved. It was intended that redundancy dismissals would be completed by 31 March 2011 except for those people on teaching terms who had extended notice periods.

Severance

Severance payments would be calculated in accordance with the Managing Organisational Change Policy agreed at the General Functions Committee on 25 October 2010.

Severance Costs

The cost of redundancies was estimated at between £7m and £10m. The Council had applied for permission to capitalise these costs in 2010/11, and received approval to capitalise only the statutory element of these costs, totaling £2.3m. There was currently a revenue provision of £7.0m in its budgets to meet redundancy costs. These costs were factored into the 2010/11 budget position as set out above.

An internal redeployment panel had been established which scrutinized all redundancy costs to ensure that the Council's limited resources were used to best effect. All potential redundancies were scrutinized over the level of their cost and where the total cost of making an employee redundant was in excess of 18 months salary (excluding on-costs) then the Directorate would be asked to reconsider whether the saving could be achieved in another way. The redeployment panel comprised the Deputy Chief Executive; Assistant Director HR and the relevant Service Director.

Equality Impact Assessment (EIA)

A Council wide staff EIA had been undertaken and this looked at the Equality impacts at key milestones. The data collected at the point that staff were identified as at risk is as follows:

		Equality Dimensions At Outset		Equality Dimensions at Initial Identification at risk of redundancy

9.6.9 The at risk data has been collected and the data identifies that females at initial risk of redundancy are 5% higher than the outset data. This reflects the fact that children's centres are predominantly female environments and all children's centres staff have been put at risk pending clarification of the grant funding situation and the completion of the service user consultation about children's centres.

Council Tax

The detailed Council Tax base schedules were included in Appendix 5 to the Cabinet Members' report. Under delegated powers, the Chief Finance Officer had determined the 2011/12 taxbase to be 139,657 (Band D Equivalents) – the calculation was as set out below:

Council Taxbase	Band D Equivalent
	2010/11	2011/12
Number of properties	160,836	161,644
Estimated discounts	(18,050)	(18,248)

The provisional GLA precept was £43,268,532, making the total estimated demand on the Collection Fund £198,734,704. The final GLA precept would not be agreed until 23rd February 2011 so would still be in draft at the time that Cabinet approve this report.

The Council was required to set levels of council tax for each category of dwelling. As there were no special items within Barnet's or the GLA's budgets affecting parts of the borough, there were only eight amounts of tax to set, as set out below:

Council Tax Band	Barnet	GLA	Aggregate
A	742.13	206.55	948.68
B	865.82	240.97	1106.79

H	2226.40	619.64	2846.04

Individual Council Tax bills would reflect occupancy status with discounts for low occupancy (one or no adults) and exemptions for specific circumstances. In addition, some residents would be eligible for Council Tax Benefit.

Housing Revenue Account

Introduction

The Local Government & Housing Act 1989 required the Housing Revenue Account (HRA) to be maintained as a ring-fenced account and prescribed the debits and credits for it. Any surpluses generated from the HRA could be used to support the account when it failed to break even and for any one year a budget could be set such that there was a drawing on balances, but it was not permissible for an overall HRA budget deficit to be set. It was for the Council to determine what level of balances should be maintained. The quarter 3 monitoring position indicated that at 31 March 2010 the HRA balances were £4.143m, and were forecast to be £4.880m at 31 March 2011.

The principal items of expenditure within the HRA were management and maintenance costs, together with charges for capital expenditure (depreciation and interest). This was substantially met by rent and service charge income from dwellings, garages and commercial premises. However, the national housing subsidy system was a mechanism for redistributing resources between local housing authorities and in 2011/12 Barnet had to contribute £10.9m to the pool. The Coalition Government had confirmed its commitment to proceeding with reform of the National Housing Revenue Account subsidy system (NHRASS) following work carried out under the previous government. The key element of the proposal was a move to a self financing system whereby councils would keep all the rents that they collected to pay for the management and maintenance of council housing, in return for taking on additional debt rather than paying negative subsidy to the government as at present.

It had been the practice in earlier years to use some of the surpluses generated from the HRA to finance capital investment in the housing stock as capital resources were scarce. This could only be done in future if the level of balances was high enough to meet any contingencies that might arise. The draft HRA for 2011/12 showed an improved position compared to that previously reported in the forward financial plan with an estimated contribution to balances of £1.8m. The longer term position would need to be reviewed, with the updating of the 30 year business plan required for the self financing model, once the details of the Government's self financing offer were known.

The Housing Revenue Account (HRA) was a statutory ring-fenced account covering all revenue expenditure and income relating to the housing stock. The Council was required to construct a budget to ensure that the account for the year did not show a debit balance. 2011/12 would be the seventh year of management of the housing stock by Barnet Homes, and the summary HRA was shown in Appendix 7 to the Cabinet Members' report.

Rent Restructuring and 2011/12 Rent Increase

The Government's rent convergence policy – together with a formula for setting annual council and housing association rent increases – had been introduced in the early 2000s with the aim that local authority and housing association tenants would eventually pay similar rents for similar properties in similar areas. At the time, it was thought this would take around 10 years to implement. All rents would eventually be calculated on the same basis, with 70% based on average earnings for the region

(adjusted for numbers of bedrooms) and 30% based on the valuation as at January 1999. The Government had consulted during the summer of 2005 on a 3-year review of rent restructuring, and had implemented its proposals in 2006/07. These had involved a re-calculation of base formula rents in line with those used for housing association properties, together with higher weightings for properties with three or more bedrooms

Ministers had decided to stay with rent convergence policy and to use the existing formula to determine the average guideline rent increase for 2011-2012. The rent increase had, therefore, been established according to RPI inflation at September 2010, which was 4.6%, combined with a factor for convergence. The Determination was based on convergence within 5 years, a measure which had gained support in consultation responses. A 2015-2016 convergence timeframe was consistent with the Department's work on self-financing.

These inflation and convergence factors had been used to calculate 2011-2012 guideline rents, and had resulted in a national average increase of 6.8%. However the increase to any individual property was limited to inflation (deemed to be 4.6%) plus 0.5% plus £2 per week (on a 52 week basis) The application of the rent convergence formula combined with rent limitation had resulted in an average rent increase of 6.5% for Barnet tenants, i.e. 0.3% below the national average rent increase. Should rents be increased by less, this would lead to a reduction in service provision.

Housing Subsidy

The Final Housing Subsidy Determination for 2011/12 had been received on 10th January 2011 and details were set out as below together with recommendations for changes to charges within the HRA for 2011/12.

The management allowance had been set at £698.24 per dwelling, an increase of 4.39%, while the maintenance allowance had increased by 6.35% to £1,376.80 per dwelling. The guideline rent increase reflected the restructuring referred to above.

The Major Repairs Allowance (MRA) was also paid as part of housing subsidy. Barnet's allocation had increased by £456,704 from 2010/11 to £9,315,504 (£848.17 per dwelling).

Service Charges

Service charges for tenants had been introduced in 2003/04 for specific services (mainly caretaking), and it was proposed that these be raised by 5.1%. Charges for these services would not generally recover the full cost of their provision. The proposed increase was in line with the rent increase, excluding convergence factor (RPI of 4.6% plus 0.5%)

Barnet Homes were undertaking a detailed review of heating charges and recovery and it was proposed that the charges are frozen pending the outcome of the review.

HRA Summary & Working Balance

Total expenditure for 2011/12 was estimated at £55.077m, including payment of £10.887m to the Government in respect of housing subsidy. The proposed average rent increase of 6.5% was estimated to raise an additional £2.932m after the effect of forecast reduction in property numbers was taken into account. Efficiency savings made by Barnet Homes had resulted in a reduction in the management fee of £0.35m for 2011/12.

It was proposed that rents for the Council's hostels be increased in accordance with the general rent increase. Rents for the Council's shared ownership schemes would also be raised in line with the general rent increase. It was also recommended that rents on garages be increased by 6.5%.

The HRA for 2011/12 showed an estimated contribution to balances of £1.658m, thus the estimated balance at 31 March 2012 was some £6.738m.

HRA Minimum Revenue Provision (MRP)

Unlike the General Fund, there was no requirement for the HRA to be charged with the MRP or its depreciation equivalent. The Government's removal of this legal requirement, combined with subsidy changes resulted in there being no equivalent reduction in debt unless a voluntary charge were made – without subsidy, which had to be found from within HRA resources. Barnet's current policy was to not make a charge which was robust from a legal perspective. The option of making a charge remained a consideration for the council should it prove beneficial to do so.

Reform of Council Housing Finance

During 2009/10 the Government had issued a consultation paper on the reform of council housing finance, which had proposed dismantling the existing HRA subsidy system, replacing this with a self-financing system. This would be based on a 30-year business plan but would involve the redistribution of housing debt (some £18bn nationally) across all authorities. This would be based on a Net Present Value calculation based on the business plan.

The Council's joint response with Barnet Homes had supported this in principle, but had concerns as to what the detail of such a proposal might entail. In particular the Council would almost certainly have to take on more debt as a result. Whilst this would be met through housing rents there was concern that as debt was pooled within local authorities there could be an adverse effect on the General Fund.

Details of the government's reforms had been released on 1 February 2011 and were currently being considered in detail. A 30 year business plan had been produced in May 2010 as required for consultation on the self financing model and this would now be updated as the details of the Government's self financing offer emerged.

Capital Programme

The capital programme set out the plans for investment in buildings, roads, equipment, other assets and capital grants over 2010/11 to 2013/14 and beyond.

The recommended capital programme was set out in Appendix 8 to the Cabinet Members' report. Decisions on the level of capital expenditure depended on the availability of various sources of funding. This included capital grants, capital receipts, developer contributions and borrowing.

Government supported investment through capital grants that were generally ring fenced to specific programmes (such as schools) or projects and was real funding to the council. Barnet had received a small amount of funding for additional school places, and this was included in the financing of the proposed capital programme.

Previously the government had also funded capital investment by providing revenue funds for “supported borrowing”. The system had changed for 2011/12, and there was no longer supported borrowing available to Councils.

The financing of the capital programme assumed an additional £40m of capital receipts being generated to finance the programme over the next 3 years. This level of funding was essential if the Council was going to continue to make minimum investments in local infrastructure. This figure was underpinned by a detailed schedule of assets surplus to requirements.

New capital proposals were supported by a full business case, which detailed the contribution schemes would make to achieve the Council's priorities, all the available options for implementing the project and financial implications of each. The relative merits of each proposal were assessed within the context of available capital resources to produce a prioritised capital programme.

At a service level, the capital programme was underpinned by asset management plans, which made an assessment of the resources needed to maintain and upgrade the Council's estate.

Provision for revenue costs (running costs and borrowing) were included in the revenue budget. Updated reports would be submitted to Members to confirm final costs. Regulations on minimum revenue provision required the Council to agree the policy for repayment of capital. The policy is included as part of the Treasury Management Strategy and the revenue budget and forward plan allowed for the increase in the statutory cost for the repayment of borrowing based on asset life.

Reference had already been made to the prudent assumptions made on capital receipts that would be available to support the programme. The planned funding of the capital programme was included in Appendix 8 to the Cabinet Members' report. The planned level of borrowing was not forecast to increase at all for the period 2011 to 2014.

The HRA programme for the improvement of homes was managed by Barnet Homes. It had entered into partnering agreements with the major contractors who would deliver the bulk of the programme until 2011/12. Funding was via the ALMO Decent Homes borrowing, other supported borrowing, and the Major Repairs Allowance.

Treasury Management Strategy

The Treasury Management Strategy was included at Appendix 9 to the Cabinet Members' report. A revised Treasury Management Strategy had been agreed by the Cabinet Resources Committee on 30th November 2010. Since that point, the strategy had been updated to reflect the following:

- The prudential indicators had been updated to reflect the Council's capital programme; and
- The Strategy had been updated to reflect the latest forecasts for interest rates. Base rate is expected to remain at 0.5% for much of 2011/12, and therefore the assumptions in the budget strategy for interest receipts remained the same.

Cabinet were asked to note the Treasury Management Strategy as set out in Appendix 9 to the Cabinet Members' report which would go to Cabinet Resources Committee for approval.

Robustness of the budget and assurance from Chief Financial Officer

The Chief Finance Officer was required under section 25 of the Local Government Finance Act 2003 to report to the Council on the robustness of the estimates and the adequacy of reserves. The Council's reserves and balances policy had been updated and was presented for approval at Appendix 10 to the Cabinet Members' report.

Robustness of estimates

The financial planning process for 2011/12 and future years had taken place within the context of the most severe resource constraint experienced by local authorities for many years. The magnitude of the reductions in government support, and the front-loading into the first two years of the four-year Spending Review period, meant that particular regard had to be had to the robustness of the budget estimates.

The financial planning process had been managed at officer level through a cross-Council finance and business planning group. This group had overseen the process for financial planning, including medium-term resource projections, the strategic context for the borough, the quantification of new pressures on resources, and the identification of potential budget savings. In recognition of the scale of the challenge facing the Council, the One-Barnet transformation programme had been a key element of the process and had been fully integrated into financial planning.

Partnership working was an important element in ensuring robustness in the budget estimates. The Council had engaged with partners on financial planning in a number of fora, and had managed the crucial relationship with the NHS through a joint financial planning group.

Extensive consultation had taken place in respect of the budget proposals in general, and also in respect of specific planned changes. Consultation feedback had been taken into consideration as final proposals to the Council had been formulated.

At Member level, the Budget and Performance Scrutiny Committee had considered the financial planning process and made recommendations to Cabinet. Cabinet had given extensive informal and formal consideration to the financial planning process, including at formal meetings in June, October and December 2010.

The Cabinet Members' report set out the following statement:

In the view of the Chief Finance Officer, the proposed budget for 2011/12 is robust.

Adequacy of reserves

The Council's reserves and balances policy set out the reserves which would be maintained and the principles for determining adequacy.

For general reserves, the principles could be addressed as follows:

- Strategic financial context: the Cabinet Members' report set out the severe resource constraint under which the Council would be operating through the medium-term. A balanced general fund position was put forward over the three-year period, requiring expenditure reductions/increases in income of £53.4m and unavoidable growth of £6.8m. For the housing revenue account, a challenging government settlement had been agreed for 2011/12, and major reform was anticipated in 2012/13 which would greatly increase the autonomy of the Council as a provider of housing;
- Governance arrangements: the annual governance statement for 2009/10 had indicated that a robust governance framework was in place consistent with the six principles of the CIPFA/SOLACE framework. The key improvement areas identified for 2010/11 had been progressed satisfactorily;
- Robustness of the budget process: the above paragraph concluded that the budget-setting process had been robust;
- Effectiveness of risk management: the effectiveness of the risk management process had been improved during 2010/11, with clearer identification of service and corporate risks and clearer action plans to mitigate those risks. The corporate risk register was attached as Appendix 11 to the Cabinet Members' report, and service and corporate risks had been taken into account in budget setting and in considering the adequacy of reserves;
- Effectiveness of budget management: the Council had robust arrangements for managing budgets and performance, and these had been further improved during 2010/11 through the introduction of a new quarterly performance process and reports. However, in the view of the exceptional challenge of the current financial context, the officer finance and business planning group would monitor implementation of savings on a line-by-line basis, with monthly reporting to the Cabinet Resources Committee.

The Cabinet Members' report set out the following statement:

Having considered the application of the above principles, the Chief Finance Officer recommends:

- General fund general reserves of a minimum of £15m; and
- Housing revenue account general reserves of a minimum of £3m, increasing to a target minimum level of £5m over the medium term in recognition of planned increased local autonomy.

The latest position in respect of general reserves was as follows:

General reserve	March	2010/11	March	2011/12	March
-----------------	-------	---------	-------	---------	-------

	2010		2011		2012
	£m	£m	£m	£m	£m
General fund	15.8	(0.8)	15.0	0	15.0
Housing revenue account	4.1	0.8	4.9	1.8	6.7

For specific reserves, the Chief Finance Officer had considered matters relevant to each reserve and advised the following planned levels:

Specific reserves	31/3/10	2010/11	31/3/11	2011/12	31/3/12
	£m	£m	£m	£m	£m
Risk	11.4	(2.0)	9.4	3.8	13.2
Transformation	3.5	3.0	6.5	(5.8)	0.7
PFI	5.1	(0.6)	4.5	(0.4)	4.1
Service reserves	12.6	(3.5)	9.1	0	9.1
Council total	32.6	(3.1)	29.5	(2.4)	27.1
Schools reserves	11.9	0	11.9	0	11.9
Total	44.5	(3.1)	41.4	(2.4)	39.0

Before discussing the Cabinet members' report, Cabinet were addressed by Dr Gillian Gear of the Barnet Museum in connection with the budgetary proposals for the cessation of financial support for the Museum as referred to above.

Cabinet were also supplied with updated details of petitions received since publication of the papers for this meeting.

In leading discussion on the budget proposals

- The Leader of the Council stated that this was the most difficult budget that could be recalled. Referring to the cut of 25% in government support over the next two years she stated that difficult decisions had had to be faced in ceasing some desirable functions on order to preserve vital services, whilst avoiding any increase in Council Tax
- The Cabinet Member for Resources and Performance stated that the Council had taken prudent action in anticipating severe cuts in government support. The budget had minimised any adverse effects on the vulnerable, and he drew attention to the work now going forward on early intervention and safeguarding. Increases in Council Tax such as were happening in other areas would not be affecting Barnet.
- The Deputy Chief Executive and Section 151 Officer confirmed that he was satisfied
 - At the robustness of the estimates before Cabinet, and
 - At the level and adequacy of reserves

In respect of reserves he drew attention to the position set out in Appendix 10 to the Cabinet Members' report. He confirmed that he considered it prudent to maintain these at £15m. He also drew attention to the budget pressures described in the report and to the provision made for specific reserves.

The Cabinet Members with responsibility for the highest-spending portfolios gave brief outlines of the principle features of the budgets for the services areas concerned as set out in the report.

The Cabinet Member for Education, Children and Families referred to the targeting of resources fairly in support of the most vulnerable having regard to the Borough's changing population. He drew attention to the Equality Impact Assessments and to the consultation responses. In discussions on the effect on the Borough's high educational standards of the reduction in the School Inspection Service he referred to the consultation that had taken place with schools and felt that the delegation of greater responsibility to schools. The proposals relating to early intervention were welcomed by Cabinet Members. The Cabinet Member referred to the arrangements for more efficient working with the voluntary sector through a move to commissioned services.

The Cabinet Member for Environment described how services would be maintained despite making a contribution of 20% of the budget by way of savings. He drew attention to the work in hand to reform the parking service and the move to cashless parking. He referred to the proposals regarding school crossing patrols, explaining that the anomaly by which a minority of schools had this provision centrally funded was now being ended.

The Cabinet Member for Adults stressed that his budget proposals were founded on the need to focus resources on meeting the needs of the most vulnerable. He emphasised the careful monitoring that would take place of individual cases to ensure that the Council intervene where necessary. He referred to the work done with the voluntary sector to achieve effective use of resources and reduce duplication of provision.

The Leader of the Council left the room during discussion of those elements of the budget relating to Adult Services.

The Cabinet Member for Housing, Planning and Regeneration referred to the ambitious targets set for the reduction of costs but also drew attention to the fact that the model of government support for this service area was about to undergo dramatic change.

The Cabinet Member for Customer Access and Partnerships drew attention to the savings from One Barnet projects. He stated that in the current economic climate it had been necessary to cut back on desirable services in order to concentrate on protecting the vulnerable. He considered that adverse impact on the vulnerable was limited by this adoption of a more targeted approach. The Cabinet Member referred to the assistance that was being given to assist the two museums in securing their future, and also to the ongoing consultation on the Library service, a report on which would be brought to Cabinet in March.

Before asking Cabinet to make their formal recommendation to Council on the budget proposals the Leader of the Council emphasised the need for Cabinet Members to have due regard to the Equalities Impact Assessments submitted to them.

Having conscientiously considered the consultation outcomes, and given due regard to their statutory equalities duties, Cabinet agreed to recommend Council in the following terms. Cabinet's formal endorsement of these recommendations was taken in two stages:

- Firstly, Cabinet endorsed all the recommendations with the exception of those relating to Adult Service;
- Secondly, the Leader having left the room, Cabinet endorsed the recommendations relating to Adult Services.

Cabinet accordingly
