

Barnet Suicide Prevention Annual Update
April 2021 – March 2022

1. Executive Summary

2021-2022 has been a successful year for the Barnet Suicide Prevention Partnership. The Strategy and subsequent refinements to strengthen the Children and Young People's aspects were agreed by the Health and Wellbeing Board. Progress has been made on the agreed actions across all 8 areas of the strategy, with many completed actions despite working through the second year of the COVID pandemic. The partnership ran a particularly strong suicide prevention campaign, led by public health, which focussed on reducing lives lost to suicide in working-age men. For the three months of the campaign, no suspected suicides were recorded in the Real Time Surveillance System (RTSS), with only a slow increase in numbers since. The campaign is being evaluated with the full report available in July 2022.

However, the Partnership is not complacent, recognising that we may not be reaching our stated aim of reducing the number of lives lost to suicide year on year. The annual number of suspected suicides from the RTSS was 25, which if all are eventually determined by the coroner to be suicides, will represent a slight increase in suicides compared to the average for 2018-2020.

2. Purpose of Report

This report provides an annual update on Barnet Suicide Prevention Strategy and Action Plan as well as the data on suicide and self-harm.

The report has three sections:

1. Suicide and self-harm statistics
2. Suicide Prevention Programme Update
3. Future plans

3. Context

Barnet's Suicide Prevention Strategy 2021-25¹ was approved by Health and Wellbeing Board in July 2021. The partnership delivering the strategy is multi-agency and multi-disciplinary reflecting the complexity of suicidal behaviour. The strategy recognises the negative impact of the pandemic and increased cost of living on mental wellbeing, and the already evident increase in multiple risk factors for suicide and self-harm such as bereavement, social isolation and loneliness², domestic violence, and unemployment³.

In December 2021 the Health and Wellbeing Board noted new amendments to the Suicide Prevention Action Plan. The amendments to the action plan were developed in consultation with partners from Children and Family Services (Early Help & Children's Social Care Services, Barnet Education and Learning Service, and Barnet Integrated Clinical Services), Barnet Enfield and Haringey Mental Health Trust and North Central London Clinical Commissioning Group. The amendments have also been shared with Designated Safeguarding Leads from Barnet primary and secondary schools, with their feedback being incorporated on an ongoing basis as delivery plans are further developed. The amendments centred on preventative actions for children and young people and were informed by a recently published National Child Mortality Database review on suicide prevention in children and young people.

We currently receive suicide data from the two main sources: Office for National Statistics which provides registered deaths in England and Wales from suicide analysed by sex, age, area of usual residence of the deceased and suicide method; and Real Time Surveillance System (RTSS) which reports on suspected suicides. The first source is more definitive but is only available after at least a year and is dependent on the coroner processes. The RTSS provides less definitive but much more timely information. This is the first year we have full year and complete data from the RTSS. Self-harm data comes from the Hospital Episodes Statistics.

The first section of this report will provide an overview of suicide and self-harm statistics reflecting the data from multiple sources. In the second section of the report, we will present the achievements of the partnership against the planned actions. The final section will outline our plans for future.

4. Suicide and self-harm statistics

3.1 Death by suicide

The most recent data available for deaths by suicide is for the three-year period covering (2018-20) for people of ages 10 years and over. The 3-year average age-standardised rate for the 2018-20 period is 5.8 deaths per 100,000 persons per year.

Deaths per 100,000 (2018-20)
Barnet	5.8
London	8.0
England	10.4

- Suicide rates have been going down in Barnet since 2015
- Barnet rate is the 2nd lowest in London (jointly with Enfield)
- Harrow has the lowest (5.0) while Camden has the highest rate in London 12.7.
- The average number of total suicides per year for Barnet residents is around 20 during the 3-year period 2018-20.

Figure 1 shows that the rate for male suicide has decreased significantly from 14.3 (2015-17) to 8.8 per 100,000 (2018-2020). In line with national statistics, male suicide in Barnet has always been higher than women.

Source: OHID (Suicide Prevention Profile based on Office for National Statistics)

Figure 2 shows that the rate for women's lives lost to suicide in Barnet has decreased from 5.0 (2014-16) to 2.8 per 100,000 (2018-2020). This is significantly lower than the rate for London 4.0 and England 5.0. In line with national statistics, the number of women's lives lost to suicide in Barnet has always been lower than men.

There was a national concern that suicide rates might rise as a result of the impact of pandemic on mental health. However, The National Confidential Inquiry into Suicide and Safety in Mental Health (NCISH)⁴ did not find such a rise in the number of suspected suicides in the general population in England in the first year of the pandemic.

Source: NCISH Annual Report 2022

This finding was reflected in official (post-inquest) statistics from Office for National Statistics (ONS)⁵ released in September 2021. In 2020, there were 5,224 suicides registered in England and Wales, equivalent to an age-standardised mortality rate of 10.0 deaths per 100,000 people and statistically significantly lower than the 2019 rate of 11.0 deaths per 100,000. The decrease is likely to be driven by two factors: a decrease in male suicides at the start of the pandemic and delays in death registrations because of the pandemic.

The annual statistical bulletin from ONS gives an overview of registered deaths in the UK from suicide analysed by sex, age, area of usual residence of the deceased and suicide method. Although the report does not tell us anything specific about Barnet, it does give us a useful national context. In 2020, males and females aged 45 to 49 years had the highest age-specific suicide rate at 24.1 per 100,000 male deaths (457 registered deaths) and 7.1 per 100,000 female deaths (138 deaths).

3.2 Thrive London Real Time Surveillance System

Thrive London has established Real Time Surveillance System (RTSS) to help prevent further lives lost to suicides and support the provision bereavement services to those affected. Dedicated resource in the Metropolitan Police as of March 2021 has improved the consistency of the data submitted to the RTSS, which increases our confidence in the reporting.

Below we summarise the key data April 2021 – March 2022:

- There were 25 suspected suicides in Barnet within the RTSS system in the past year.

- If these deaths are all later confirmed as suicide, this would represent a small increase compared to the average number of deaths per year (20) which we saw in 2018-2020.
- We are unable to make comments about trends as this is the first time we received complete data for a year from this system.
- Over four-fifths of lives lost to suicide have been men with 84% of all lives lost reported to date.
- The number of suicides was generally evenly spread across all age bands.
- Around two-thirds of lives lost to suicides in Barnet are in White residents. Asian residents account for just over a fifth of lives lost to suicides in Barnet. Ethnicity data is collected by attending officer on scene and Met Police categories for ethnicity are therefore used in this system.
- In line with the national data, hanging is the most common method of suicide in Barnet accounting for just over half of all suicides. Overdose on medication is the second most common cause.
- The majority of suicides appear to have taken place at home.

The data should be interpreted carefully as it contains both suspected and confirmed suicides. These figures are subject to change post-inquest. More detailed subgroup analysis is not undertaken due to low numbers and risk of potentially identifying individuals.

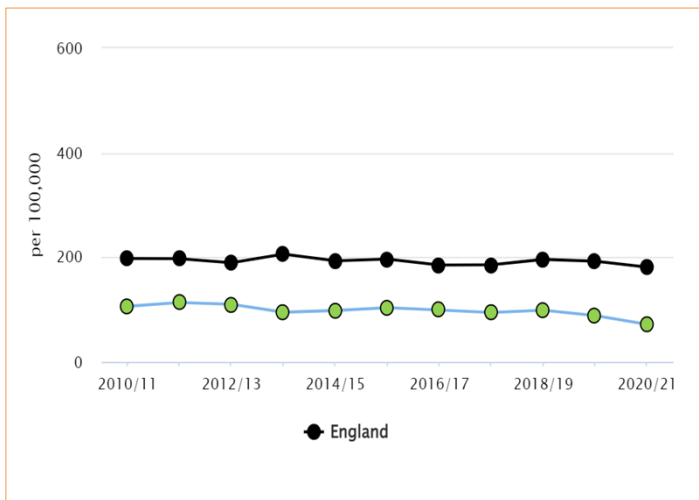

3.3 Self-harm

Self-harm is a crucial indicator of risk and should always be taken seriously, even when the physical harm is minor. While many people who engage in self-harming behaviour do not wish to die, there is research to suggest that individuals who self-harm are at an increased risk of attempting or losing their life to suicide^{6,7}. Self-harm is one of the top five causes of acute admissions. Those who self-harm has a 1 in 6 chance of repeat attendance at A&E within the year.

- Self-harm admissions in Barnet have gone down from 88.4 per 100,000 in 2018/19 to 71.8 per 100,000 in 2020/21.
- This is significantly lower than England 181.2 per 100,000.
- Since 2015/16, for the first time, Barnet's rate is lower than London 82.7 per 100,000.
- This is the 9th lowest rate in London.

Figure 5 below shows the trend for all children and young people aged 10-24. The Barnet rate of self-harm per 100.000 population is significantly lower than England. This data refers to episodes of admission and not individual people so the number of people self-harming may be lower.

Figure 6: Trends in hospital admissions as a result of self-harm, 10-24 years, by age groups

- There is a gradual upward trend in self-harm incidents in those aged 10-14, although this is not statistically significant.
- 15-19 year olds have the highest number of admissions.
- There is a gradual downward trend in self-harm incidents in those aged 20-24, but this is not statistically significant.

4. Suicide Prevention Programme Update

This section provides an update on the way in which Barnet’s Suicide Prevention Partnership implemented strategy actions agreed as well as an update on work across North Central London. The full strategy action monitoring log can be found in Appendix 1.

4.1 Barnet Suicide Prevention Partnership

Below we list our progress by each of the areas within the Suicide Prevention Strategy, listing the aim of each section of strategy for reference at the beginning of the section.

4.1.1 Insights from data, research, and people with lived experience

Aim: Enhanced insights on every suicide that occurs in the borough to inform future prevention work, using both qualitative and quantitative information.

Last year, considerable time was spent in improving our understanding of suicide data, in line with the improvements in the RTSS. Barnet has taken a lead role in developing processes and standard approaches to reviewing and sharing RTSS data across NCL. This is an ongoing process; as we get better at understanding the data, we will review the processes to reflect this. We have also shared our learning across London and national suicide prevention networks.

We began to incorporate learning from the National Child Mortality Database Programme Thematic Review such as wider impacts of exclusion from school through developing guidance for schools to ensure there is multi-agency engagement prior to exclusion including the use of outreach mentors from Pavilion Pupil Referral Unit.

4.1.2 Leadership and collaboration

Aim: Co-ownership of strategic success

In the first year of the strategy, building a strong partnership was the priority. We have secured representation from Children and Young People stakeholders, Family Services, Education, emergency services and residents who are expert by experience to strengthen delivery of our planned actions.

We strongly believe that our partners are committed to suicide prevention: many have identified a suicide prevention lead or a Champion in their organisations. Partners are also eager to support collaborative actions. For example, JAMI led a bid submission to Department of Health on behalf of and with local VCS organisations working in this area. Although the bid was not successful, several organisations joining together in a short period of time and submitting a complex bid itself was such a success.

We are committed to strengthen our links with residents who are bereaved or affected by suicide or with lived experience. We have researched models and best practice on how best to meaningfully involve Experts by Experience (EbE) whilst being mindful of the emotional challenges for them of participating in this work. We have a small group of EbE representatives contributing by shaping our forward plans and raising issues that are appropriate to the work of the partnership.

We are also looking to strengthening how the lived experience of children and young people will be incorporated in our plans, including learning from the My Say Matters consultation, BICS focus groups via their Youth Participation Officer and working with our Peer Champions when established in the academic year of 2022/23.

4.1.3 Awareness

Aim: Everyone that lives, studies, or works in Barnet knows where to find help if they are thinking about suicide or are concerned about someone else.

The main barrier to achieving the aim is stigma around suicide and self-harm. Zero Suicide Alliance (ZSA) training aims to tackle stigma and empower individuals to identify and confidently approach someone who presents suicidal ideation and signpost to services. We have been promoting this training across the borough for staff in statutory organisations, voluntary sector organisations and members of public. The majority of our SPP members have established baseline engagement with ZSA online training in their organisation.

We have also developed a brief resource - MECC (Making Every Contact Count) Factsheet to provide key information about suicide and signposting information about the Barnet self-harm and suicide prevention services as well as some key national resources. MECC factsheets have been circulated to BSPP partners. Barnet Council are rolling out on-line and face to face training on MECC to council staff, our Health Champions, and partners like BOOST to compliment the factsheets and support in having everyday conversations about health and wellbeing. Further plans are being developed to roll the training out other statutory partners.

Through our Resilient Schools Programme and Barnet Education and Learning Services (BELS), and Barnet Integrated Clinical Team (BICS) a significant amount of work with schools in raising awareness of suicide and self-harm and mechanisms for signposting to relevant services has taken place. We made sure that all schools are aware of the stepped care pathway of mental health support and understand how to refer to the range of services that are already in place to support children and young people, for example, including a fuller description of Barnet Integrated Clinical Service, to detail about Raphael House and Terapia services for care-leavers and ongoing communications campaigns to about the service offer for school-age children and their parents and carers.

All schools in Barnet have been offered training for Youth Mental Health First Aid and over 100 schools have taken up the offer. In addition, all Secondary schools are offered Papyrus Suicide Prevention training and regular communications are sent out with links to ZSA and Papyrus training via the school circular. A Peer Champions Scheme for 16-year-olds has been piloted across two schools and procurement of the service underway for implementation in September 2022 across more schools.

We developed a suicide prevention campaign aimed at preventing mental ill-health and suicidality amongst working-aged men, the largest single group who lose their lives to suicide. The campaign was launched in October 2021. The initial focus of the campaign was encouraging men to talk about their mental health, seek help and where possible to support other men in their lives. Three interlinked projects were determined to achieve the aims of the campaign. They were:

- Promotion of 'Stay Alive' App
- Community Outreach targeting men who work in male-dominated industries
- Setting up 'Andy's Man Club' peer to peer support group

The targeted digital promotion of the Stay Alive app was successful in raising awareness of the app amongst men in Barnet. It also raised awareness and increased access to local mental health resources. The direct engagement with men in the construction industry and the Council's depot increased awareness of the campaign products and generated interest in mental health and suicide prevention. We have also improved our understanding about how to best to engage with this group. Andy's Man Club held their first peer support meeting at the end of March with 17 individuals attending. Attendance has continued at similar levels since.

Although it is difficult to definitively measure the impact of the campaign on number of deaths by suicide, we are confident that our campaign has made an impact on breaking down stigma about talking about mental health and encouraging men to talk. We note that over the period of the campaign between November 2021 – January 2022, there were no suspected suicides reported within the RTSS for Barnet. Numbers elsewhere in London did not drop in the same way. A separate evaluation report is currently being completed to describe in more detail what is known about the impact of the campaign.

4.1.4 Interventions

Aim: Provide timely and accessible information at potential trigger events.

We have begun to prioritise suicide intervention training with frontline staff who work with potentially high-risk groups. This included rolling out Mental Health First Aid, Youth Mental Health First Aid, STEPS Suicide Reduction and Bereavement Awareness training to staff groups in Barnet Council, Barnet Homes, BOOST⁸, Department for Work and Pensions, Fire Service, Metropolitan Police and VCSE organisations. We have commissioned Papyrus to provide a three-hour suicide prevention training to schools, Further Education and Higher Education as well as the mechanisms for signposting to relevant services.

BOOST is planning on giving out a flyer to every person who signs up to the service and when clients are six-months unemployed. Barnet Homes will use their At Home magazine which goes to all properties including those above 18-meter as well as the Vine Intranet, their website for staff, to raise awareness of suicide prevention.

Resilient Schools is now a universal offer to all schools and provides a whole-school approach to raising awareness and addressing stigma of poor mental health by providing support, training, and support forums for staff. The Public Health Children and Young People team have a new Health Improvement Officer that will add capacity to the suicide prevention work.

We have explored the suitability of the R!pple tool for workplaces and several schools have downloaded the tool onto school laptops. We are promoting the tool in all schools and the wider community. R!pple is a free tool that can be downloaded on to devices which detects when someone searches harmful content about self-harm or suicide online, intercepts and provides support information and messages of hope.

4.1.5 Services and Support

Aim: Ensure that services are available, integrated, accessible, and appropriate for all members of the Barnet community.

Public Health have been working more collaboratively with CAMHS, NCL, VCSE and other partners to sharing learning around co-produced safety plans at points of transition. They include some specific actions to strengthen the existing tailored support arrangements that are in place for some groups. For example, incorporating the learning from the Camden Serious Case Review of Unaccompanied Asylum-Seeking Children into relevant clinical protocols within the Barnet Integrated Clinical Service and into the Public Health Migrant Needs Assessment.

Mental Health services have been undergoing significant transformation nationally and locally to provide mental health services closer to home and intervene at less acute stages of deteriorating mental health. The range of changes are beyond the scope of this report but should support suicide reduction.

4.1.6 Wider determinants of mental health and wellbeing

Aim: Support and improve the mental wellbeing of Barnet residents

All partners who are members of the suicide prevention partnership have a wellbeing offer for their staff - some have very established packages of employee support provision. Mental Health First Aid trained staff or similar are available for colleagues to approach to speak about any mental health matters and signpost individuals to other services/agencies for further interventions. Some organisations are reviewing their mental health and wellbeing policies and looking to develop postvention practice.

Digital Resilience Campaign Film, a co-produced film by young people, is completed and has a launch date of the 24th of June 2022. Generation Verified is a short film that explores young people's experiences of the online world and how they cope with the unique generational challenges that they must navigate in their day-to-day lives.

One example is the Colindale Community Trust which has an up-to-date employee mental health & wellbeing policy. This was renewed after taking part in Barnet Council Public Health Working Well Service and Employee Mental Health Support Training and Management Toolkit in 2021.

4.1.7 Bereavement support

Aim: Provide support to everyone that wants it after bereavement by suicide

North Central London (NCL) Support-After-Suicide Service is funded by grant funding from NHS-E/I and the NCL Directors of Public Health. The service helps those bereaved⁹ by suicide through the intense emotional turmoil of the distress, confusion, and disarray, of the period after a suicide.

The RTSS hub enabled the service to pro-actively engaged with those bereaved by suicide, to provide bereavement support plan and implement short-term interventions and long-term preventative interventions. The service is launched in October 2020, delivered by Rethink Mental Illness. Within the 1st year, the service has supported 99 referrals, have received 90 Thrive RTSS reports and contacted 168 members of the public. Barnet referrals consisted 20% of the total NCL referrals.

In addition to one-to-one support, clients have an option of accessing 12-weekly Suicide Bereavement Group Support, either in-person or online. There are up to 9 members in a group where individuals are brought together by bereavement relationship (e.g., siblings, parents, etc.). Each group is run by two facilitators (at least one of whom has lived experience).

⁹ Although the term bereavement is generally used in this document, it is envisaged that anyone significantly affected by a suicide would be eligible for support.

The service has been receiving very positive feedback from the clients. Rethink has produced an annual report on their service which provides more details.

4.1.8 Community Response

Aim: Ensure a co-ordinated local response of partners with every death by suicide.

When a person dies by suicide approximately, 135 people suffer grief or are otherwise affected. We therefore needed to ensure a co-ordinated local response of partners with every death by suicide.

JAMI's Emergency Response Initiative Consortium (ERIC) toolkit has been disseminated to all schools. The ERIC toolkit helps schools to respond to sudden traumatic death and suicide and put in place actions to prevent suicide such as training and staff awareness and safeguarding in relation to suicide. Working collaboratively, CAMHS, BICS, BELS, Public Health, and safeguarding, we began to develop Multiple Suicide Response Plans to respond when there are several lives lost to suicide in a short period of time or which share common features. This work is currently focusing on young people but multiple suicide plan for adults is also in the pipeline.

4.2 NCL Suicide Prevention Network and Programme Management

Barnet Public Health Team has been hosting the NCL Programme Manager for Suicide Prevention on behalf of NCL Integrated Care System. This programme has been funded by NHS-E/I as part of the Wave 3 Suicide Prevention Pilot funding to support quality improvement of local suicide prevention plans for three years.

Using NHS-E/I Wave 3 Suicide Prevention pilot monies, programmes have been put in place across North Central London to provide more timely support to those with suicidal ideation or addressing increased risk. These were initiated in some areas in NCL with plans to expand to the remaining areas with the second year of funding. The services included mental health support to care leavers, support to support individuals admitted for self-harm and targeted support to those with suicidal ideation.

5. Future plans for the Barnet Suicide Prevention Partnership

Some of our future plans include:

- Dissemination of suicide prevention campaign evaluation report once complete
- Suicide prevention campaign Phase II – planning to launch in the Autumn 2022
- Multiple Suicide Response Plan for adults including systematic response to RTSS
- Continuation of NCL Support After Suicide service into third year

- WISE before the Event training to be delivered by the Education Psychology team. The latest evidence shows that one of the key factors in suicide prevention is ensuring schools have a coordinated, informed and evidence-based PLAN of how they would respond if there was a student life lost to suicide.
- Continuing to work with BICS Youth Participation Officer and future Peer champions to ensure that the voice of the child informs suicide prevention planning.
- Action plan refresh - building on the learning from the 18 months of the strategy, we will review and co-produce a refreshed action plan for 2023-25
